PORTRAITS OF ALICE FREEMAN PALMER

Professor Geo. H. Palmer, of Harvard University, has collected in a volume reproductions of the portraits of his wife, Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer, at different periods of her life. A very few copies only have been printed. Professor Palmer has presented one to the University library, where under proper restrictions, it will be shown to those who desire to see it. As Mrs. Palmer is one of the most distinguished women who have been graduated here, and many of the present students never saw her, the opportunity to examine these portraits will doubtless be welcomed by many.

CLASS DAY AT CALIFORNIA

Class day at the University of California tomorrow will begin with the farewell pilgrimage from building to building, the entire class journeying together in the final tour of the campus. The co-eds will wear white duck dresses, white hats and red parasols, while the men will be clad in the traditional white duck trousers, dark coats and black senior plug hats. Preceded by a military band, the full four hundred graduates will head the procession of classes in its morning march.

The first spot to be visited by the class will be the Le Conte oak, in Lovers' Lane, where Richard O'Connor will dedicate a granite block bearing the metal plate originally given to the tree by the class of '98. This was placed first on a cement block spiked into the hollow of the oak's huge arms, but the college botanists discovered that the spike was eating into the core of the tree, and the whole block was removed. The engraved design on metal is now replaced at the foot of the oak, and the tree will be rededicated by the class of '04.

The pilgrimage will next visit the "senior oak," a little further, where Scott Hendricks, the president of the class, will turn over senior prestige and senior customs to the succeeding class of '05. At South Hall, Max Thelen will make the address and at the agricultural building J. Edwin Roadhouse will speak. Crossing Strawberry Creek to Hearst Hall, Miss Tallulah Le Conte will speak for the women. Then the chemistry, mining and mechanics building will be visited, the speakers at these places being Jacob K. Neighbor, Fletcher Hamilton and Edward Abenheim respectively. At the library and art gallery Miss Martha Rice will speak, and at North Hall, where the pilgramage will stop, Phillip M. Carey will talk.

Class day will further be signalized by the big extravaganza in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Greek Theater, for which invitation tickets have been issued. In the evening, the senior men will hold their banquet in a SanFrancisco down-town restaurant.

VIGER ELECTED MANAGING EDITOR OF INLANDER

N. T. Viger was yesterday elected managing editor of the Inlander for next year. Mr. Viger is a prominent member of the 1905 Lit. class and is generally considered one of the most popular men in the class, having been president in his freshman year. He is also a member of the Quadrangle Club.

THE INLANDER

Some Features of Michigan's Monthly Magazine—How It Compares With Similar Publications of Other Universities—The Statistics.

During the last twenty years journalism has taken wonderful strides and nowhere has this been more clearly manifested than in the college publications. There is not a college today, even including those of an attendance of scarcely 200, which does not print a monthly magazine.

Many of the leading college publications of today have come into existance within the last quarter of a century. On the other hand there are, however, at the old institutions of learning, magazines which date back as many as 60 years. The oldest college periodical is the Yale Literary Monthly which was established in 1836. It is also the oldest extant literary monthly in America.

"The Inlander" of the University of Michigan was founded by the class of '91. It has however not been a senior magazine but rather a publication of all departments and classes of the University.

An examination of the larger college magazines reveals many interesting facts. The following table has been prepared for this use. The first column refers to the number of pages in each issue, the second to the number of issues each year, the third to the price per year and the fourth to the price per month:

Yale Lit Magazine	68	9	$2.00	$.35
Wesleyan Lit Monthly (Wesleyan Uni.)	55	9	2.00	.25
Nassau Lit. Magazine (Princeton)	64	9	2.50	.30
Univ. of Cal. Magazine	80	9	1.50	.20
Monthly Maroon Univ. of Chicago)	55	9	1.00	.15
Minnesota Magazine	53	9	1.00	15
Smith Monthly (Smith College) ..	67	9	1.50	20
The Mt. Holyoke ..	46	9	1.50	20
Brunonian (Brown Univ) ...	55	9	1.50	20
Wellesley Magazine	51	9	1.25	15
The Illinois	39	9	1.00	15
Cornell Era	46	10	2.00	25
Amherst Monthly...	44	9	2.00	25
Journal (Georgetown)	55	9	1.50	20
The Inlander (Univ. of Mich.)	64	10	1.00	15

The Inlander compares very favorably with any college magazine in the country. From the above statistics the following comparison may be seen:

The University of California Magazine contains the greatest number of pages. This, however, loses its force when one consideres that it is an inch narrower and not within fully an inch as long as "The Inlander." In material, its 80 pages contain about the same as the 64 pages of "The Inlander."

The "Cornell Era" and "The Inlander" are each published ten times a year but the former contains 46 to the latter's 64 pages. The magazines are exactly the same in the size of the cover.

The Yale Literary Magazine is the most expensive publication. Its rates are $3.00 for 9 numbers a year or 35 cents a copy. The Minnesota Magazine, The Illinois, The Monthly Maroon (Chicago) and "The Inlander" sell at $1.00 a year, the cheapest rate of any college magazine. "The Inlander," however, prints 10 numbers, while the others issue but nine.

STANFORD TRACK TEAM AT CHICAGO.

Nine men, the pick of the Stanford University track team, arrived in Chicago yesterday where they will train at Marshal Field in preparation for the Intercollegiate meet a week from Saturday. The Chicago men are watching the practice of the Californians with a great deal of interest. They are especially interested in Dole, the champion pole vaulter of the world.

FINAL CLASS GAME TODAY

Championship of the University Will Be Settled at 4 O'clock on 'Varsity Field.—Freshman Lits vs. Freshman Medics—No Admission Fee

This afternoon at four o'clock the final class game will be played on the 'Varsity Diamond between the Freshman Lits and the Freshman Medics. Both teams have won their way to the finals by consistent playing and the best class game of the year ought to result.

The Medics strength lies largely in their pitcher, Sibley, whose work against the the junior Laws Monday stamps him as a capable pitcher.

The Lits rely on the strong arm of Shulte to keep down the Medic scores. Killifer the Lit catcher is probably the best backstop on any class team and is likely to keep the Medic runners pretty close to the bases.

Manager Lee Jenney stated last night that absolutely no spectators will be allowed on the field or running track. A crowd on the running track would interfere with the work of the track team and Manager Baird has consented to allow the use of the 'Varsity diamond only on condition that the crowd keep on the bleachers and grandstand. If this is not done the game will be stopped and transferred to South Ferry Field. No admission fee will be charged for the game.

Both departments are working up enthusiasm for their freshmen champions and the rival rooters are preparing for a battle royal.

HALLIDAY WINS AT LEXINGTON

Ernest M. Halliday of Michigan won first place in the Interstate Prohibition Contest Friday night, held at Lexington, Ky. There were five other speakers each of whom had won his state contest, representing the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and New York, yet Mr. Halliday won out by a good decisive margin, winning first place in thought and composition and second in delivery. Lexington papers commented very favorably on the masterly way he treated his subject.

Mr. Halliday is a senior Lit and fresh Law, and has been prominent in debating and oratory during his college course, having qualified in the Oratorical contest in the past two years and having won the place of alternate on the team that defeated Minnesota. He won the 'Varsity Prohibition contest, followed it up by winning the state contest, and now wins the Interstate. This victory carries a cash prize of fifty dollars in gold and the privilege of speaking before the National Prohibition Convention at Indianapolis, in June.

This National contest will be quite an important affair. Six men chosen out of some seven or eight hundred contestants from all over the country will speak. Of these six men two will be Michigan men; J. G. Welch, who won the Interstate contest last year and Mr. Halliday.

The judges in this Interstate contest were Col. Bain and Prof. Milligan of Lexington and the Rev. Mr. J. C. Halliday of Cincinnati, on delivery, and Prof. Scheel of York College, Neb. Prof. Clark of Eureka Coll, Ill., and Hon. George T. Wells, editor of "Back Bone" St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. Halliday's subject was "The Paramount Issue."

BASEBALL TEAM AT CHICAGO TODAY

Today, the 'Varsity baseball team meets Chicago at the Windy City. Three games have been played between the two teams, of which Chicago has won two. The wearers of the yellow and blue will make a heroic effort to win today's game and thus even up the series. Wendell will probably pitch for Michigan and Ellsworth for Chicago.

The Daily will receive telegraphic reports of the game and the result will be posted in Sheban's window as soon as known.

TENNIS TEAM BUSY

The 'Varsity Tennis Team of three men will leave Friday afternoon for Kalamazoo where they will play a tournament with Kalamazoo college, on Saturday.

Sunday the men will go to Chicago where the Western Intercollegiate will begin on Monday, continuing through the week.

In the play-off, to decide which man of the present team will drop out when the number is cut from 4 to 3, Lee, St. John and McNiel will each play the two others.

The first round of this "round robin" contest occurred yesterday. Lee defeated St. John 8-6; 6-4. Today St. John will play McNiel and Thursday Lee will play McNiel.

SENIOR HOMEOPS HAVE GOOD POSITIONS

At the meeting of the Homeopathic faculty last week Leon J. Gibson and Harold L. Lawn were appointed Internes at the hospital for the coming year. Of the other students who belong to the senior class, Harold H. Baker and F. Schnell will be on the staff of Dr. Lee's hospital at Rochester, N. Y., Virgil L. Weir has accepted a position in the Toledo general hospital as hospital Interne. Awara A. Hoyt has a position at the Hahemann Hospital, Rochester, N. Y. and James W. Sooy at the Metropolitan Hospital, New York. Corden T. Graham will be at his father's private sanitarium, New York. Luther Peck and W. E. Doran will enter upon general practice.

All of the students are members of the class of 1904 and most of them belong to the recently organized society of drug testers.

PRESS CLUB BANQUET.

Thursday of this week the Press Club will hold their first feed. The committee has worked faithfully to make it a success and at present it looks as if their efforts would be crowned with success. The affair will be pulled off at Oyster Bay. An elaborate menu has been prepared "which will equal if not surpass anything held at the Bay yet this year," says Mr. Willetts. The toasts have been selected with due regard to the abilities of the individual members who will be invited to speak and the feast of reason promises to equal the feast of edibles early in the evening.

It being the first affair of the new 'Varsity Club all members are anticipating it with interest and are doing all in their power to make it a success.

PROF. STANLEY'S LECTURE

Owing to a misunderstanding the Daily announced yesterday that Prof. Stanley would deliver his lecture on the Nibelungen Ring, Tuesday afternoon. The correct date is Wednesday afternoon. There were a few persons who gathered in the lecture room of the Museum yesterday, but Prof. Stanley had announced the correct date to his classes so that very few were misled.

The lecture will be given at 4 o'clock in the lecture room of the Museum. It will be illustrated by 60 slides, showing all the principal scenes in those great operas that compose the Nebelungen Ring. The lecture has been given here only once before and then in the summer school.

INTERSCHOLASTIC THIS WEEK

The Interscholastic meet which will be held here the last of this week promises to be the best ever held under the auspices of the University of Michigan Athletic Association. Interscholastic Manager Hayes has received over 300 entries and at least 200 individual contestants are expected to compete. The program which is now in the hands of Sod Millard, the printer, will consist of about 20 pages. The Championship banner, medals and ribbons are on view in Shehan's window and make an attractive exhibit.
