WOLVERINES MAY BATTLE VANDERBILT

Probable That Michigan Team and McGuigin's Men Will Meet on Gridiron Again Next Fall.

IF CONTRACTS ARE SIGNED GAME WILL BE PLAYED NOV. 15

Game With Southerners Has Been Hard for Varsity to Win in Years Past.

Although dispatches from Nashville have not been confirmed from this end, it seems entirely probable that next fall will see Vanderbilt back on the football schedule. According to advices received from the southern city the return of the Commodores to the Wolverine schedule will be featured by the fact that the Michigan team will play in Nashville for the first time. The game will probably be the third on the Wolverine booking list, coming on October 18th.

On account of Director Bartelme's absence from the city the report could not be verified, but according to some athletic authorities, it is fairly authentic and it is believed that the contracts have been signed. Vanderbilt has always proved a worthy opponent of the Wolverines and although they have never won a game they have thrown more than one scare into the Michigan camp. The last game with Michigan was two years ago when the Yellow Jackets were defeated in a close game by the score of 9 to 8. Owing to the fact that McGuigin, who is coach of the southern school, is a brother-in-law and pupil of Yost, it has been his ambition to win from his former mentor and relations between the two schools have been the best.

There is considerable comment over the fact that the game is scheduled so early in the season as Vanderbilt has always proved a tough customer and Ritchie has been played as late as possible. The southerners always start practice before Michigan and they will have the edge at such an early date. Also the fact that they will play on their own field gives them an advantage and all considered, the Vanderbilt game is going to be a hard one. If the contract however, has been signed, the date must have proven satisfactory to Coach Yost who is best able to determine the merit of such a date.

EDUCATION BESTS LOVE FOR STAGE

Arthur Cohen, Campus Thespian, Comes Back to College After Leaving for Footlights.

MAY NEVER ACT AGAIN.

The quiet of the scholastic life has overcome the glamor of the footlights. An early morning train yesterday returned an ex-famous personage, who forsook the campus just a year ago to join the ranks of the profession of powder and grease paint.

Arthur G. Cohen, alias Rameses, alias Mr. Posker, alias Reggie Barking, conceded one of the best amateur thespians that ever graced the campus stage has re-entered the law department and will continue his course. Cohen dropped out of school just a year ago. At that time he had just finished carrying the title role in the Union opera as well as the lead part of the Comedy club production. "Art" was determined to go on the stage in earnest.

The would-be-actor made his way to New York. He had little trouble in securing a place with one of the leading companies there and played for a couple of months. Then he was called to his home on the western coast by the wishes of his parents, who did not care to see their son in dramatics. The actor-student entered business

SUFFRAGE BILL IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Amendment Will Have to be Passed if Student Voting Comes Before State Lawmakers.

MANY LEGISLATORS FAVOR LAW

According to advice received from the attorney-general of Michigan the proposed student suffrage bill would be unconstitutional and a constitutional amendment will be necessary if it is passed. President Henry Rottschaefer, of the local suffrage association, and Vice-president Mackey, were in Lansing last week conferring with the legislators and they report that they are all in favor of advocating the amendment to the constitution.

Representative Murphy of Berrien county, was the most interested and he has offered his services in framing the amendment. He spoke to many of the prominent business men of the state and he found that there was state-wide approval of the measure. The prevalent opinion among them and the legislators is that the amendment should be framed along broad lines so as to include absent business men.

The different committees that were appointed to conduct the campaign among the students in the different departments will begin active work within a week.

Mr. Keeley is one of the most prominent newspaper men in the country and is considered an authority on matters relating to journalism. He has been closely connected with the Chicago Tribune since 1898 and is now vice-president of the publishing company as well as editor-in-chief of the paper.

Resolutions were adopted yesterday afternoon by the House of Representatives extending sympathy to the family of Congressman W. W. Wedemeyer. The resolutions, which were offered by Representative McLauchlin were unanimously adopted.

FOUR FAMOUS MEN TO SPEAK HERE SOON

Governors H. S. Hadley of Missouri, John F. Shafroth, of Colorado, and Woodbridge N. Ferris to Talk Here in Future.

EDWIN T. MEAD, ADVOCATE OF PEACE, SPEAKS MONDAY

Elaborate Plans are Being Made to Entertain Gov. Ferris, Who Presides at Debate Jan. 17.

Governors of three states, two of whom were mentioned for the presidency in the recent campaign, and another man of international prominence, will speak before university audiences within the next two months.

Governors Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri; John F. Shafroth, of Colorado; and Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan; and the Hon. Edwin D. Mead, secretary of the International Peace Conference, will appear in Ann Arbor in the near future, in accordance with arrangements made at the meeting of the oratorical board last night.

Governor Hadley, the militant trust-buster, so prominent at the Chicago convention, is to lecture on "The Activity of the College Man in Politics," appearing on the lecture course of the oratorical association Tuesday evening, January 21. The university of Michigan is an old acquaintance of the governor's, who led a victorious team against her in the Central Debating League during his college days. He will be entertained at a banquet by Delta Sigma Rho, the honorary debating society, of which he is a member.

Peculiar interest attaches to the visit of Governor Shafroth, as his son William is a junior literary student in the university. The governor, who was elected to the United States Senate at the recent elections, will speak in Ann Arbor about the last week in February, stopping off on his way to the national capitol. He is said to have been the dark horse candidate of Bryan, had the choice of Wilson been impossible.

Edwin D. Mead, the leading advocate of international peace, and the presiding officer of the principal peace organizations of the world, is to speak next Monday evening, January 13, in University Hall on the subject, "The United States as a World Power." He is one of the most gifted speakers on the lecture platform today, and is a historian of no small standing.

Governor Ferris, of Michigan, is to appear here January 17 as the presiding officer of the Chicago-Michigan debate. Elaborate plans are being made for the entertainment of the schoolmaster statesman, and the board of regents have postponed their meeting in order to be present on the evening occasion. The regents and governor will be entertained at dinner by President Harry B. Hutchins, and it is probable that a reception will be tendered the distinguished guest by the University Senate.

NEWLY ELECTED SPEAKER OF HOUSE OLD MICHIGAN GRAD.

While in the university Mr. Currie took an active interest in campus affairs and in his senior year was an associate editor of the 1905 Michiganensian.

CRAIG MAY NOT TAKE PART IN TRACK WORK

Feared That Michigan's Star Hurdler's Injured Knee Will Keep Him Out of The Hurdles Event.

"JIMMIE'S" FRIENDS INSIST HE WILL STAY ON TRACK.

Other Track Men Will Begin Active Work for Indoor Meets Next Week.

A question of whether or not "Jimmie" Craig, Michigan's star hurdler, has been lost to track athletics this season is right now bothering the Wolverine track contingency.

No less an authority than "Steve" Farrell, trainer of the Maize and Blue athletes, has stated that Craig may not be able to compete in the indoor meets and might possibly be deterred from work out of doors by an injury to his knee in football. On the other hand, friends of Craig state that there is no reason why Craig cannot get into activities within a short time if he trains with care, and furthermore that the possibility of his being kept out of the outdoor work are very remote.

Craig nursed an injured knee during almost the entire football season, but with proper care and light practice he was enabled to appear in all of the games. His knee still bothers him, it is stated, and may prevent his participation in the hurdle events, his specialty. While it is not thought that the injured knee will keep him from running, with the proper care, it is feared that in a fighting after taking the hurdles he might injure it still more. For this reason it is stated that he might not be able to enter competition.

Craig has done no strenuous work in preparation for the indoor track meets. In the statements of his friends are to be relied upon, however, he will begin moderate training as soon as his injury will allow him. His friends believe that he ought to be in shape for the meets with Syracuse and Cornell, and that by the time the outdoor season commences there should be no reason why Craig should not appear in a Maize and Blue running suit.

Though Captain Haff of the 1915 track team is ready to have his men report at Waterman gymnasium for work preliminary to the opening of the indoor season, work since the return of the men from the Christmas recess has been desultory. Some of the aspirants for places on the team have taken light gymnasium work, but as yet there has been no organization in the training. It is understood, however, that even the imminence of the mid-year examinations will not prevent the track men from beginning active work early next week. Owing to the fact that the Junior Hop of February 7 will cut in on the use of Waterman gymnasium, it is expected that the athletes will make the most of the time between now and the beginning of the semester exams to condition themselves after the holiday lay-off.

Chief among the men eligible for this year's indoor team are Captain Haff in the middle distances, Hainbaugh for the distance runs, Band and Seward for the sprints, Sargent and Griest for the high jump and Kohler and Cole for the weight events. A number of other stars of last year's squad are expected to begin work soon, together with several promising members of last season's All-Freah team. Trainer Farrell will be on the job continuously, and the men who turn out will be given as much attention now as if in preparation for one of the big meets.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB TO GIVE SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS

"Chinese Night," to be Given Next Saturday Night, Will Show the Customs of Orientals.

In order to show a better insight into the modes of living, customs, viewpoints, and characteristics of different peoples than can be gained from the colored accounts of travelers, the local Cosmopolitan club, like other similar organizations, has adopted a policy of giving a series of "National Nights."

The "Chinese Night" which comes next in the series will be presented next Saturday at 7:30 o'clock at Newberry hall. The affair as the name indicates will be staged by talented Chinese students in the university, and is open to the public.

The program will consist of short and interesting items depicting Chinese folklore, their national aspiration and educational progress. A two-act farce, written for the occasion will be produced. Lantern slides will be displayed to illustrate the recent Chinese revolution. Chinese slight of hand and shuttlecock dance are other features of unusual interest.

BANQUET 150 OF STATE'S ENGINEERS

Members of Michigan Engineering Society Hear Fine Program at Union Dinner.

THE CONVENTION ENDS TODAY.

More than 150 engineers, members of the Michigan engineering society, their wives, members of the faculty and senior students of the civil engineering department, gathered at the Union last night for the annual banquet of the society.

Prof. H. C. Sadler acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers of the evening. The following toasts were given: "The Legislature of Michigan," Col. Emory W. Muenscher, C.E., Manistee, Mich.; "The Engineering Profession and the Man," Byron Parks, Grand Rapids; "Gray Iron Castings," C. E. Bement, Lansing, Mich.; "Engineering Chances in the Philippines," C. W. Hubbell; "The Coon and the Turkey," Dorr Skeels, Grand Rapids, Mich.; "Charles E. Greene," Prof. L. M. Gram, Ann Arbor, Mich.; "The Future Engineers," Frank C. Gibbs, '13E.

"Nig" Kuhn, "Ed" Lazear, and "Jinx" Otto, the three original "Darbs" presented a skit entitled "A typical day in camp." The stunt took the audience by storm and pleased the old engineers hugely. "Bill" Williams gave his never failing amusement stunt "A little imitation music;" and the mandolin club played music during the entire meal.

The society will resume its meetings today and the three day convention will end with this afternoon's session.

ENTRIES FOR POSTER CONTEST MUST BE IN BY JANUARY 13.

All entries for the Michigan Union opera poster contest must be handed in before next Monday, January 13. Gordon Jacques, '13L, chairman of the poster competition, announced yesterday that this date would be final, several weeks being necessary for the judging of the posters and the preparation of the vari-colored cuts. As previously announced the 1913 opera will be presented on March 26, 27, 28 and 29.

Contributions for the poster contest should not bear the name of the artist. No posters have been handed in to date, but it is expected that the number of entries will be fully a score, which is considerably more than last year. Judges for the contest have not yet been named.

MEDIC COURSE IS CAUSE OF CONTROVERSY

Lit and Medic Faculties Disagree as to the Abolishing of Six Year Combined Course; Medics May Continue.

DEAN VAUGHAN WILL BRING MATTER BEFORE REGENTS SOON

Would Have Regents Grant Degree of B. S. in Medicine at End of Fourth Year.

Whether the six year combined medical and literary course shall be continued, or whether three years of literary work shall be demanded of all medics, making the required medical course seven years instead of six is a question that has caused considerable trouble between the literary and medical faculties. At a meeting of the literary faculty Monday night the matter of retaining the six year course, with the seventh year made optional with the student, was tabled, which means that the lit faculty refuses to reconsider its decision to terminate the six year course.

Five years ago the combined course was raised to six years by the literary and medical faculties and at least two years of preparatory literary work was demanded in some approved university instead of the one year of literary work at Michigan which had been previously required. This order went into effect in the fall of 1909 and was to continue for four years, when the requirements for the medical department were to be raised to three years, making it a seven year course. The class which entered this fall was the last one that could enroll on the six year combined course.

Under the six year course the first two years of work was taken entirely in the literary department and at the end of the next two years, when a junior in the medical department, the student would receive a B.S. degree from the literary department and the M.D. degree would be conferred at the completion of the six years.

"The medical faculty will take the matter up to the regents at their meeting January 17," said Dean V. C. Vaughan, of the medical department, "If the regents say go to the seven year course, we will go, but the medical faculty will not advise such action to the regents. To go to the sev-

SENATE PROTESTS AGAINST PISTOLS

Council Receives Letter From Senate Against Use of Firearms at Football Games.

ELECT NEW COUNCILMEN SOON.

At its meeting held last night, the student council took action on a communication received from the senate council protesting against the use of revolvers in the grandstands at Ferry field during the progress of athletic events. The council agreed with the senate committee, and passed a resolution embodying their ideas in this regard. However, this is all the council can do in the matter.

The 1916 medic class sent in a petition to the student council protesting against being compelled to pay dues in both lit classes and medic classes. The council passed a resolution to the effect that students entered in a combined course may choose which class they will pay their dues to. In case they are seniors they are compelled to pay their dues anyway.

A letter was read from the University of Pennsylvania thanking the council for the congratulatory letter sent to Pennsylvania after the big game.

Provision was made for the election of six new councilmen. The nominations will be held Saturday and the elections will be held Monday or soon

UNIVERSITY WIRELESS DID NOT HAVE LICENSE REVOKED

Although it has been consistently rumored that the license of the university wireless telegraphy station has been revoked, such is not the case. The plant is still sending and receiving messages under the same license which it had in the past, that is a temporary license which was granted in November and which is good for eight months. A temporary license is given to stations until the government inspector examines the plant, when if everything is satisfactory, a permanent license is granted. The inspector is expected within a few weeks, and in the opinion of those in charge, there will be no difficulty then in obtaining a permanent license.

SAYS COLD WEATHER WILL NOT IMPEDE FILLING UP TRENCHES

That the cold weather will not prove a serious impediment to the installation of the new fire pressure system on the campus, was the opinion of Contractor Schumaker, on being interviewed last night. "Everything is in splendid shape, except this short piece here," declared Mr. Schumacher, pointing to the trenches immediately in front of the new building, "and that was tested this afternoon, so all we need to do is cover the pipes now, and, then when warm weather steps in, we can run in some city water, which averages about 40-50 degrees in temperature, melt the clods and pump the entire filling securely."
