Vol. XXIII, No. 161. ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1913. PRICE FIVE CENTS

CHORUS WITH PROF. STANLEY WINS TRIUMPH

Second Night of May Festival is Another Brilliant Performance, With All Artists Satisfying.

HILL AUDITORIUM IS AGAIN FILLED TO ITS CAPACITY.

Schumann-Heink and Florence Hinkle Carry Leading Roles in "Requiem."

Again last evening the Hill auditorium was the center of interest to all Ann Arbor for the second concert of the May Festival. Again the vast hall was filled to capacity, and again the concert left nothing to be desired in point of performance, inspiration, or enthusiasm. From the thunderous ensemble of chorus and orchestra down to the thinnest tone of voice or violin, the ear never caught the faintest echo.

Chorus Achieves Triumph

In the Verdi "Requiem" the Choral Union fulfilled the promise it made on Wednesday evening by its impressive performance of Albert Stanley's Laus Deo." Mr. Stanley's conducting was masterful, and his chorus was finely responsive to every shade of his interpretation.

In finish, in tonal modulation, and in precision of attack, the chorus surpassed all its previous efforts. The softly breathed accompaniment to the opening theme of the violins, and the long sustained chords through the solo recitative in the final "Libera mo' were beautifully intoned. In the splendid climax of the "Sanctus" the chorus rose to a superb volume with no evidence of effort and with a triumphant force.

The wisdom of Mr. Stanley's judgment in selecting the too-seldom heard "Requiem" was apparent to everyone. It is not all what our northern temper would call sacred music, but it is rich with all of Verdi's melodic and orchestral resources, and is above all profoundly sincere.

Artists Please Audience.

Miss Florence Hinkle in the soprano part gave a performance that was spect. Her art is supreme in its poise, its restraint, and its emotional purity. Her voice last evening was marvelously pure and clear. Her high mezzo-voce notes were free, clear, and delicious to hear, and all down the range of her tones there was perfect smoothness, perfect control.

Madame Schumann-Heink won the ovation which she always wins. Hers is an art that seemingly can never decline. She will always be the same noble woman and the same noble artist, and she will always move the hearts of her hearers with that appeal which comes from her own great heart.

The tenor role of the "Requiem" gave Lambert Murphy no very good opportunity to display his finely managed voice. His tones were well modulated and resonant, and his phrasing broad and meaningful. Henri Scott justified the expectation which his reputation has aroused, and his singing won high praise.

For the afternoon concert today Mme. Schumann-Heink will be the soloist, and the Children's chorus will make its appearance in "The Walrus and the Carpenter." The evening concert will be somewhat popular in character, with Signor Pasquale Amato, the famous baritone as soloist.

YEAR BOOK IS UNIQUE WITH A NAME INDEX

3,000 Students Are Listed With Reference to Pages on Which Their Names of Pictures Appear in Annual.

MICHIGANENSIAN WILL GO ON SALE NEXT TUESDAY.

Volume Contains More Than 700 Pages of Engraving and Reading Matter.

One of the distinctive features which will characterize the 1913 Michiganensian is the 3,000 name index of every student whose name appears in the book, which is in accordance with the ruling of the board in control of student publications. Following each name, will be printed the page or pages upon which that name appears. The Michiganensian is the only annual in the country with this distinct feature.

The Michiganensian will be put on sale at the usual campus stands Tuesday morning, which is earlier than that of any other western annual. Despite the fact that this year's book is larger and represents more beautiful workmanship than any other edition, the annual will sell at the same price of $2.50.

This year's annual will be bound in full black cow-hide pebbled grain leather, stamped with the title and university seal in gold leaf. The annual contains 700 pages of engravings and reading matter. A sample copy of the book has been received by the editors, and because of the especially attractive features, the annual this year, in beauty and design, far outclasses that of any previous edition.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 15.—Paul Blanhard, '14, won the National Peace Oratorical contest here this afternoon for the central division of states as the representative of the University of Michigan.

Vernon Welsh, of Knox College, Monmouth, Ill., representing the western states, spoke first with a well organized oration on "Assurance of Peace." Blanshard followed with his oration "The Evolution of Patriotism," and in the opinion of his coach, Prof. T. C. Trueblood, of Michigan, who had charge of the contest, he never spoke better.

ALL STUDENTS HAVE SUFFRAGE.

The student constituency of the 1912-14 board in control of student publications will be determined upon at an election to be held in University hall next Thursday afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock, at which time, three men will be elected to one year terms. The nominees, as named by the editors of the campus publications and approved by the present board are: Carl W. Eberbach, '12-'15M, James E. Hancock, '13E, Edward G. Kemp, '12-'14L, Carl G. Schoeffel, '13-'15L, Frank W. Murphy, '14L, Roland W. Fixel, '12-'14L, Charles A. Crowe, '14E, Edward R. Thurson, '13-'15L, and Harold Abbott, '13.

Every member of the student body is entitled to balloting privileges in this election, having the right to vote for any three of the nine candidates in the running. The successful contestants will take their seats at the opening of school next fall.

FORMER WIFE OF DONOR OF AUDITORIUM LOSES JEWELS

Mrs. Langdon C. Ross, of Chicago, former wife of the late Arthur Hill, has reported to the police the loss of a diamond pin, valued at $1,500, while attending the opening concert of the May festival Wednesday night.

It is the belief of the police that Mrs. Ross was the victim of professional "dips" attracted here by the crowds attending the festival. Mrs. Ross, however, is not certain whether the pin was stolen or lost.

UNDERCLASSES BATTLE TODAY ACROSS HURON

Sophs Hold Mass Meeting and Vow to Avenge Former Defeats; Will Post Lists of Teams This Morning.

HOLD RELAY TRYOUTS AT SOUTH FERRY FIELD TODAY

Many Sophs Still Lacking For Light Weight Tug and Relays.

Erstwhile defeated sophomores gathered in the physics building last night to the number of 300 and swore to avenge failures of the past across the Huron this afternoon.

The light weight pull will begin at 4:15 o'clock sharp, and lists of the teams will be posted this morning in Waterman gym and University hall. Bulletins will be posted in the same places to direct members of the teams when and where to meet. Several more are still needed to complete the sophomore light weight team and a final opportunity will be given to weigh in at Waterman gym between 1:00 and 2:00 o'clock.

Relay tryouts were interrupted by rain and a final opportunity will be given runners on south Ferry field between 1:30 and 3:00 o'clock this afternoon. Less than half enough sophs have tried out for the teams and unless more 1915 runners are present this afternoon it will be necessary to forfeit some of the events.

Lists of men picked for relay teams will be posted in Waterman gym and University hall at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

UNION ELECTIONS OCCUR SATURDAY

Polls Open From 8:30 to 2:30 to Avoid Conflict With Spring Games.

LARGE VOTE IS ANTICIPATED.

Officers of the Michigan Union for the 1913-14 college year will be chosen at the regular election, to be held tomorrow at the Union. President Kemp announced last night that the polls will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Last year only 203 members of the Union took the opportunity of attending the polling place, but the light balloting was caused by the occurrence of the spring contests at the same time, rather than on account of lack of interest. It is expected that tomorrow's election will be better attended, inasmuch as the membership of the Union has been practically doubled this year.

Women Will Play Tennis Series.

Weather permitting, the first sets of the preliminary tennis contests among the women will begin this afternoon at Palmer field. No definite time is set for these preliminary games, those taking part being allowed to fix a time suitable to themselves in accordance with their class work.

Oratorical Board Meets Tuesday.

A meeting of the Oratorical association board will be held Tuesday at 7:00 o'clock, at which time nominations in addition to those already made by petition will be considered for the election of officers. The election will probably be held May 24.

TRACK TEAM AGAIN LOSES 440 MAN

Jansen Lost For Syracuse Meet by Illness of Father, and Haff Only Other Man.

HALMBAUGH WILL RUN SATURDAY

It will be a weakened Michigan team that will attempt to take a second victory from Syracuse in the dual meet on Ferry field Saturday. In contrast to the announcement that Haff, Kohler and Halmbaugh will be in shape to compete, comes the news that Jansen has been called home by the illness of his father.

Halmbaugh has improved enough to make his appearance seem a certainty, and Kohler did a little work yesterday with the shot before the rain chased him to shelter. Trainer Farrell expects that he will be able to win the hammer throw even while crippled, but will not enter him here unless he has recovered entirely by Saturday.

In the quarter, Jansen's absence may cause the trainer to use Haff in the half mile. Jansen was the only quarter miler taken on the Cornell trip, and was to be his team's sole dependence in this event against Syracuse. Now it looks as though Haff would be shifted into the quarter, and Brown and Lamey left in the half.

ENGINEERING EXHIBIT RUNS AGAIN TODAY

Big Crowd All Day at Remarkable Exhibition of Engineers and Their Classes Are Again Dismissed.

PRES. HUTCHINS WORK WHEN FRESH ENGINEER IS SHOWN.

Conductors and Board of Trade Are Coming Today From Detroit and Cleveland.

With the automatic register indicating that 6,982 visitors had passed through the halls of the engineering building up to 10:00 o'clock last night, the first day of the initial exhibit of the engineering, architectural, and forestry departments came to a successful close. All day the corridors and the exhibition rooms were filled to their capacity with a crowd of May festival visitors, and students and faculties of other departments.

All of the special features were operated, and the booths were arranged so as to accommodate the large crowd most efficiently. Guides directed the crowd at every turn, and although there was a little confusion in the morning, at the beginning of the afternoon order had been established and all sightseers followed a definite course.

Conductors and Merchants Coming.

Because of the visit of 3,000 conductors from the Detroit convention, and the delegation of 50 members of the Cleveland Board of Trade this morning, who are coming especially to see the university and exhibit, the big show will be continued in operation from 8:00 until 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

As a result, all classes in the engineering department will be excused for the day. All junior engineers who are not engaged at the present on the exhibit, are requested to meet at Dean Effinger's office at 8:45 o'clock this morning, to march to the Michigan Central station to meet the delegation of conductors, and act as guides to them during their two hours' stay on the campus.

Among the interesting features of the exhibit are the miniature irrigation project, the cement plant, the water turbines, the naval tank, the architecturnl drawings, and the forestry display rooms. The continuous illustrated lecture on forestry by Prof. Lovejoy was attended by a crowd throughout the afternoon.

A curiosity is a design of a stone bridge, by Pres. H. B. Hutchins, '71, which was drawn when he was a freshman in the engineering department, in '68.

The electrical conditions of the atmosphere prevented the sending of wireless messages, but if conditions permit today, the two dozen which were handed in during the day will be sent this morning.

JUNIOR TRYOUTS FOR CHEER LEADER TO BE INSTRUCTED.

All junior tryouts for cheer leaders must notify by post cards Harold S. Hulbert, '14M, 304 North Ingalls street, before Saturday noon. From Saturday afternoon, they will be instructed for two weeks, and will make their first public tryout on May 30 at the M. A. C. game. Four public tryouts will be given before their selection, and the successful candidates will take office in the fall.
