CORNELL HELD TO ONE HIT BY "SIS"

Michigan Star Checks Big Red Team All the Way, While His Mates Push Two Runners Across Plate

BENTON AND LABADIE SECURE THREE SAFE WALLOPS APIECE

Wolverine Catcher Robs Sisler of No-Hit Affair by Poor Judgment in Opening Inning

ITHACA, N. Y., May 19.—When Benton picked up a scratch hunt, which would have rolled foul, the Ithacans secured their only hit off Sisler in yesterday's game, which the Wolverines won 2 to 0.

Cornell's lone hit came in the first inning, when Gordon laid down a bunt. Benton played the ball before it had a chance to roll foul, which it would have done if untouched. Gordon beat the throw to first, and robbed Sisler of credit for pitching the first no-hit game on the Michigan 1915 schedule.

Labadie did the heavy end of the stick work for the Wolverines, Benton and Labadie being responsible for three hits apiece, while the right fielder for the visitors hit in one of the Michigan runs, and made the second assist in the ninth when he sent Maltby from first to third on a single.

Michigan's first count came in the second, when Benton singled, taking second on Maltby's sacrifice hit. Niemann, who took Sisler's place in the outfield, failed to help. With two down Labadie came through with one of his three hits, scoring Benton from second.

The second count was registered for Michigan in the ninth when Donovan muffed Maltby's fly, and allowed him to reach first. Labadie poked out a single which sent Maltby to third, and he crossed the plate for the second run, when Waltz made a single, his only hit of the day.

Sisler started every inning except the fifth by striking out the first Cornellian to face him. He retired 11 of the Ithacans by the strike out method, and Bryant for the home team whiffed almost as many, getting 10 of the Wolverines on strikes.

Michigan now stands even with Cornell in the number of games won and lost, each having taken one game on the other team's home grounds, and with tomorrow's game scheduled here it would seem that Cornell has the advantage. Regan was kept on the bench today, and it is probable that Coach Sharpe is saving him for tomorrow's game with Michigan, while Ferguson is the man whom Lundgren will send against the Cornell team in the deciding game of the series.

VICTORS OF OTHER MEETS ENTER MEN

Expect Keen Competition Among Prep Schools at Meeting Tomorrow and Saturday

TOLEDO HIGH ENTERS 18 MEN

Of the schools which have won first place in the 16 interscholastic meets held at Michigan, all but four will be on hand to compete tomorrow and Saturday. Ferry field will be the scene of the keenest competition of prep school men in the history of the meets, if the number of men entered and the size of the schools can be used as the criterion.

Chicago University high, which has won the meet for the past two years, has entered a team of 14 men, while Lewis Institute of Chicago, which won the meet in 1907 and 1906 has entered a team of eight men.

Of the state schools, Lansing high, which won the meet in 1898 has the largest entry list while Muskegon, captured first honors in 1909, has sent a strong list of entries. Detroit University school, which has captured first place three times, has entered teams in both classes.

Although Toledo Central high, which won the contests in 1911, has not entered a squad this year, Scott high of Toledo has entered 18 men in an effort to take first honors for the Ohio city.

Following are the winners of previous meets:

1898—Lansing high.
1899—Detroit Central high.
1900—Ann Arbor high and Grand Rapids high tied for first.
1901—Detroit Central high.

1914—Chicago University high.

Y to Recruit Lake Geneva Delegates

Activities of the Y. M. C. A. from now until the end of the semester will be confined to recruiting a delegation of 50 men for the annual Lake Geneva student conference. At the conference which is held every June and which is attended by about 800 students from colleges all through the west, Michigan had a delegation of 65 men, 50 of whom were from the state university.

PINNEY TO BATTLE FOR PEACE HONORS

Michigan Delegate Represents Central Group at Lake Mohonk This Afternoon

SIX SECTIONS ENTER CONTEST

Michigan will put forth her last effort today in the attempt to carry off the National Peace contest honors. N. T. Pinney, '16, having won both the university and Ripon College battles, will speak as the representative of the central group of states at Lake Mohonk, New York, this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

The United States has been arbitrarily divided into six sections each of which has chosen a spokesman by the process of elimination through state and interstate contests. These six sections, given in the order in which they will come on the program, will be represented as follows: North Atlantic group, Boston College, Mass.; South Atlantic group, University of West Virginia, W. Va.; Central group, University of Michigan, Mich.; Southwest group, University of Oklahoma, Okla.; Western group, Washburn College, Kansas; Pacific group, Reed College, Oregon.

There will be five judges selected from the delegates assembled at the National Peace Conference, which is held annually at Lake Mohonk. Prizes to be awarded are: first $100, second $80, third $70, fourth $60, fifth $50 and sixth $40.

This is the first year that the whole of the United States has taken part in the contest. Last year, only four sections were organized. In 1913 only three sections fought for the honors, while in 1912, the combat was waged by the Central and Eastern groups alone.

COMMERCE CLUB MAKES SPRING TRIP TO TWO DETROIT FIRMS

Commerce club will hold its annual spring trip Monday, May 24. The party will leave the D. U. R. interurban station in a special car at 7:10 o'clock that morning, and will visit the sociological department of the Ford Motor company and the Hudson Department store.

The club will hold a dinner at the Board of Commerce for which a special program of speakers is being arranged. The trip will extend over two days, returning to Ann Arbor Tuesday night.

EIGHTH WORLD WONDER TO BE DISCLOSED TODAY

While the St. Louis Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics battle to the last contract; while the Cornell mentors and our own Lundgren ponder and devolve the machinations of collegiate baseball around their machinators; while the "Busher Abroad" and the hero of Van Loan's tales vie for first honors; while thousands of baseball-mad fans clamber over each other's necks to get seats for various contests—while all these contests are on, the world of baseball stands agape for a day.

Small wonder.

Small wonder indeed. For this afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock (central time), the members of The Michigan Daily and Gargoyle staffs meet for the 76,584, 963, 748, 625th annual contest. A baseball battle to the last gallev. A horsehide-walloping, spit-ball-sizzling struggle till the last quart of ink fades from the copy sheets.

For the newspaper contingent "No-hit" Carpenter, the shut-out artist, will pitch, and "Home Run" Field will catch. This man Carpenter pitched 6, 748, 956 games for the Rockford high school World's Champions of Rockford county, and allowed but one hit in the entire series, getting 567,389 home runs and striking out 5,764,898,135,427 men. Field caught for Cap Anson's Orioles back in '87, but is even better than he was then. Spaulding's guide for '86 and '87 gives Mr. Field the credit for catching 76,823,567,564 men off second, and also the unique record of catching 546,736,527 fowls in one game.

For the Gargoyle, Waldemar Alfred Paul John, known among the fans as "Iron Man" Wap, will hurl. It is food for the statistician to note that his record is identical with Carpenter's, except that Mr. John pitched a 34,526,738,465,267 inning game for the Broadway Reds last spring against the Felch park benches, shutting out the Reds and allowing but one man to reach first. It was afterward learned that this man got to first by peanut politics. "Leather-Wing" Gault will catch for the Gargoyle team, and it will delight our readers to note that this is the same Gault who plays both short stop and catcher at the same time, stopping sizzling line drives before they pass the plate.

The umpires have been chosen with great care and discretion. Behind the plate Adna Romulus Johnson will call balls and strikes. Mr. Johnsing was procured at well-nigh fabulous expense, and in an interview last evening declared that he was not prejudiced against the Gargoyle, only that he could not help from giving all close decisions to the Daily men. On bases, umpire Harold Reginald Van Norden Schradzki will decide the fate of the base runners. An intensive study of the game from every known angle and a couple of circles gives Mr. Schradzki the advantage over any known umpire. He confided to our reporter at a late hour last night that Carpenter would be called out on any attempt to steal bases, on general principles.

With these powerful batteries and with umpires known for their integrity and little knowledge of the game, the contest will be the greatest ever staged. A seating capacity of 84,783,672,884,875,673 has been provided for, and pink lemonade will be served by Patrick Duffy Koontz between innings.

MICHIGAN DEFEATS HAVERFORD SQUAD

By Conquering In Doubles, Wolverines Capture Contest with 4 to 2 Count

TO PLAY PENNSYLVANIA TODAY

HAVERFORD, PA., May 19.—Michigan was able by conquering in the doubles, to defeat the tennis team of Haverford College here today. The courts were slow on account of heavy rains on previous days. The final score was 4 to 2.

Every one of the matches was a real contest, three sets being required for both of the doubles and one of the singles. The second set of the Mack-Weller struggle went 28 games before the Michigan man won.

Captain Reindel beat Carey, the Haverford crack, although he lost the first set. The next went to deuce Reindel winning after 12 games were played. The next set was comparatively easy for the Michigan captain.

Mack and Weller furnished several thrillers for the spectators in their long drawn-out battle. The first set went the way of the Ann Arbor man, 6—2. Then both settled down to real work and the battle waged merrily, with the advantage going to each in turn. Mack won the twenty-seventh game after a hard fight, and then was able to take the deciding game from his opponent.

Crawford was off form and went down before Allen in straight sets. The Haverford man did not experience much difficulty in trimming the Wolverine, taking a love set from him. The scores were 6—3, 6—0. Switzer lost his first singles match of the Eastern trip, when he let Hallett beat him 6—2, 6—4.

The doubles, which proved the deciding matches, were well fought. The Michigan men won both, however, after losing one set in each contest.

FRESHMEN FAIL TO SHOW ENTHUSIASM

Huff, Saier and Cochran Take Turns in Instilling "Pep" into Yearlings

SOPHOMORES TO MEET TONIGHT

"Hap" Haff, "Eddie" Saier and "Bill" Cochran took turns at instilling "pep" into the freshmen who gathered in University Hall for the mass meeting preliminary to the spring games last night. As the audience was disappointingly small, all three speakers urged the first year men to rally their comrades for the underclass contests.

The sophomores tonight are expected out in full force at the mass meeting scheduled for 7:00 o'clock in the west physics lecture hall. The speakers will be "Tommy" Hughitt, "Jimmy" Raynsford, and "Hap" Haff. T. E. Agee, '15L, general chairman of the spring games, will explain the rules of the contests, and Henry S. Parsons, '15E, will preside. Six more sophomores are needed for the relays. The places will be filled by volunteers at the mass meeting.

The tug-of-war contests will begin at 4:05 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, just below the Wall street bridge near the island, and north of the railroad tracks. Henry S. Parsons, '15E, will be the referee. Of the first year men, 400 have weighed in, and from this number the three teams of 45 men each will be picked.

At the meeting of the sophomore tug-of-war captains, it was discovered that a sufficient number of men have not yet weighed in for the tug-of-war teams. For the lightweight team, 12 men are needed and for the heavyweight, 18. The last opportunity to weigh in will come this afternoon from 1:00 to 3:00 o'clock at Waterman gymnasium.

The pushball and the obstacle relay contest Saturday morning are scheduled to start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Both sides will assemble on the campus shortly before 8:00 o'clock. The sophomores will gather at Tappan hall, and the freshmen at the flagpole.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR ANNUAL SOPH BOILERMAKER POW-WOW

Final arrangements for the annual pow-wow of the 1917 engineering class, which will be held tomorrow night at Cascade glen on the Huron river, have been completed. Prof. John R. Allen, of the mechanical engineering department, and Prof. F. N. Menefee, of the department of engineering mechanics, will be the speakers. Instrumental and quartet selections will make up the musical part of the evening's program. The individual assessment for the pow-wow will not be more than 15 cents for the 250 members who are expected to attend.

The firewood committee will leave the Michigan Central depot at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon to gather the wood for the campfire, and it asks that all other members of the class who are able to help be at the station at that time.

MME. OBER STARS AT FIRST CONCERT

Audience Accords Famous Artist Hearty Applause; Usual Lack of Fervor Prevails Among First-Nighters

ORCHESTRA DOES WELL UNDER BATON OF FREDERICK STOCK

Frieda Hempel, Famous Soprano, Appears in Two Operatic Numbers on Tonight's Program

With the usual lack of fervor of a first night concert, the May Festival series was inaugurated last night. Only once did the audience arise to any great pitch of enthusiasm, and that was Mme. Ober's singing of the Aria of Fides, from "Le Prophete" by Meyerbeer. Pouring out great floods of deep tone, and skilfully enacting the dramatic passion contained in the score, combined with a pleasing stage presence, easily won for Mme. Ober the heartiest applause given during the concert.

As an encore to this number, she sang, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from "Swamson and Delilah," in which she gave a wonderfully convincing interpretation, full of power and emotion. Her first number, "Aria of Katharine" from "The Taming of the Shrew," also displayed her remarkable range and power, and for which she was vigorously applauded.

Mr. Clarence Whitehill sang with good taste, and to best advantage in "Wotan's Farewell," but he can scarcely be pronounced to be more than an average good singer. Lacking in stage charm, and in power of tone, his final number, which should have brought down the house, failed to receive any applause. In his first appearance, singing the "Aria of Athanael" from "Thais," Mr. Whitehill sang well, but was unfortunately covered by too much accompaniment. He was encored, however, singing the familiar, "Evening Star" from Tannhauser."

Under Frederick Stock's baton, the orchestra reaches a rare degree of precision, unanimity, and balance of tone. The wood-wind section deserves special commendation. The orchestral favorites were the "Symphonic Poem," a composition descriptive in character, full of extravagant coloring, weird melodies, and violent climaxes, and of course, the matchless, "Magic Fire Scene" music from "Die Walkure."

Tonight the cantata, "The New Life" will be given by the Choral union, and a boys' chorus comprising the combined St. Andrew's and Congregational church choirs, with Olive Kline, as soprano soloist, and Mr. Theodore Harrison, as baritone.

Frieda Hempel, the famous dramatic soprano also appears tonight in two operatic numbers, while the symphony orchestra will intersperse the program with three orchestral compositions.

LITS DEFEAT LAWS IN GOLF TOURNAMENT HELD YESTERDAY

In the inter-department golf tourney yesterday, Palmer and Stearns, lits, defeated Williamson and Nicholson, laws, by a score of 15 down and 13 to go. The match was a four ball foursome for two points a ball.

None of the other matches have been played yet, but the tournament will be completed this week.

No qualifying matches will be played in the individual tournament to be held during the coming week-end. All of the members of the club will compete. Those dropping out of the first round will then play for a consolation cup. A cup will be given to the winner of the tourney.

Mechanical Engineer Gives Two Prizes

As a gift of Henry Hess, vice-president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, two funds of $1,000 each, known as the Hess Prize funds, have been established, the income from which may be awarded annually for the best paper by a junior member of the society and to the two enrolled members of student branches of the society who contribute papers on technical subjects in the field of mechanical engineering. About 50 members of the local student branch of the society will be eligible to compete for the prizes.

TO PRESENT GREEK MYTH NEXT WEEK

Helen Champion, '17, Genevieve O'Leary, '16, and Mima Winslow, Grad., Take Leading Roles

TO HOLD FESTIVAL WEDNESDAY

When the first figures steal through the trees in Observatory Hollow next Wednesday night, marking the beginning of the portrayal of the Greek myth, "Persephone and Demeter," a beautiful dancing festival will commence.

The story of the fete is as follows: While the attendant-maidens of Persephone, daughter of Demeter, goddess of Growth on Earth, are picking flowers in the fields, Persephone and Demeter are seen bidding farewell to each other. Demeter leaves and the maidens, led by Persephone, whirl into the midst of a dance, finally leaving the scene. Just before the last phalanx figures have disappeared, dark forms are seen approaching led by Pluto, prince of darkness, who steals the lovely daughter of Demeter. With signs of distress, the maidens rush to tell the mother of her loss. Horror-stricken, Demeter comes and immediately sends the attendants to search for her child.

This is the beginning of a long and hopeless search, at the end of which Demeter, exhausted takes a place in the well, and in her mourning, represents the coming of autumn and winter. Enraged at her inability to find the stolen Persephone, the mother stops the growth of everything on earth. With winter come the meagre, emaciated forms of famine. In this scene, Hermes, messenger of the Gods, enters and begs Demeter to relent, promising her the support of the Gods in her search for Persephone, if the stolen girl has eaten nothing since her abduction.

The mother, upon hearing the reassuring words of Hermes, rises and bids the spirits of famine depart. With them Hermes also leaves to commence his search for Persephone. After the gloomy shades disappear, the joyous representatives of spring come in, followed by Hermes and bring Persephone. After sending out the maidens, and calling out the summer months, mother and daughter meet, rejoicing in their mutual happiness.

The part of Demeter is taken by Helen Champion, '17, while that of Persephone is in the hands of Genevieve O'Leary, '16. Hermes, messenger of the Gods will be represented by Mima Winslow, grad. These three will be supported by 10 others in leading parts and by the cast of 60 dancing maidens.

Margaret Bassett, '17, has charge of the sale of tickets, which are for sale at 25 cents and 35 cents.

The festival, will be presented at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday evening in order to have time for the Lantern Night ceremony which will follow.

TIE IN INTER-CLASS TENNIS GAME

Junior and Senior Net Artists Play to 2-2 Draw in Opening Class Contest

Junior and senior racquet wielders clashed yesterday in the opening game of inter-class tennis, and played to tie sets. The score was 2—2.

Owing to delay in starting the game, the doubles matches could not be played yesterday, and they will be held this afternoon.

Neff and Wickham staged the most interesting match of the afternoon, and their play was of high caliber throughout. Neff's cut bothered Wickham in the first set, but the junior came back strong in the second frame and kept the fourth year man on the jump all the time. Neff was not to be stopped, however, and finally succeeded in vanquishing his opponent.

The summaries:

Polasky (S) d. Ford (J), 6—0, 6—3.
Neff (S) d. Wickham (J), 6—3, 9—7.
Coxen (J) d. Worth (S), 6—2, 6—3.
Wright (J) d. Heist (S), 8—4, 6—0.

The fresh-soph game, scheduled for last Tuesday, could not be played on account of the poor condition of the courts, and the match will take place today at 3:30 o'clock.

WIRELESS CONTEST DECLARED DRAW AFTER NINETEEN MOVES

At this time, final moves in the Harvard-Michigan correspondence match will be sent in, and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The winners in the club tournaments for the past year will also be announced, and watch fobs will be awarded to the winners in each class.

PROSPECTIVE ARCHITECTS WILL BE EXAMINED BY STATE BOARD

Applicants to Be Tested on Knowledge of Materials, Construction and Design

Candidates for admission to the practice of architecture in Michigan will be required to take an examination before they are permitted to pose as full-fledged architects, according to a bill passed by the legislature at the state and signed recently by the governor. Architects now practicing must also be registered, and will be given certificates of permission by the state. The bill goes into effect next November.

The examination for admission will be divided into two parts, one of which will be a test of the candidate's knowledge of the strength of materials, general construction and architectural design, and the other a proof of his ability to make practical application of his knowledge in the work of an architect and supervision of the construction of buildings. The examinations will be conducted every six months by a board of five examiners, one of which, according to the act, is to be the senior professor of the architectural college of the University of Michigan.

ART EXHIBIT ATTRACTS LARGE AUDIENCE TO MEMORIAL HALL

Exhibition of 54 portraits and landscapes painted by Mr. Leon A. Makielski, who has recently become a member of the architectural faculty, is attracting large crowds to the upper galleries in Alumni Memorial hall.

Before coming to the University of Michigan Mr. Makielski studied in the Art Institute of Chicago. He received the foreign travel fellowship in 1908, and from 1909 to 1913 he attended the Academie Julien and the Academie Grande Chaumiere in Paris.

Band Will Not Give Concert Tomorrow

Owing to the May festival concert, no open air band program will be offered tomorrow night, and the only appearance of the musicians this week will be at the interscholastic meet. For this the Varsity musicians will assemble at University hall at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and march to the field. Special seats inside the track will be reserved for the bandmen.

Sweaters for the varsity bandmen have arrived, and will be distributed to the men as soon as the insignia are placed on them.

BOARD MAKES ASSISTANTSHIP NOMINATIONS THIS AFTERNOON

Matter of Numeral Awards to Come Up for Concluding Disposition in New Plan.

At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the athletic association to be held this afternoon, nominations for the various assistantships to the athletic managers will be made. Eight men will be nominated as asistants to the baseball and track managers. Four of these will be chosen by popular vote of the students at Campus Election day. Eight assitants for the interscholastic manager also will be nominated, and from the four present assitants, two will be selected to run for the office of interscholastic manager. This officer will be chosen this spring, at the same election as the four assistants, but will not take office until the 1916 season.

Final disposition of the new plan for the awarding of numerals will probably be made at this afternoon's meeting. A new system of award has been drawn up, and was presented at the last meeting of the board, but more consideration of the plan was desired. It is likely that the plan now proposed by the committee will be ratified.
