Game called at 2:30 o'clock.

With 3,000 loyal students cheering in the darkness, the Michigan Varsity completed its final practice for the Syracuse struggle late yesterday afternoon.

Shortly after 5:00 o'clock the band marched onto Ferry field, playing "The Victors," with the rooters following behind. The procession adjourned to the north bleacher, where reinforcements were discovered, as several hundred had preceded the main delegation down State street. The Varsity was concluding a long signal drill, and the cheering section shouted the name of almost every individual connected with the college pastime who resides here in Ann Arbor.

"If they won't fight after this demonstration," remarked Coach Yost after the cheering had been under way for several minutes, "they—they—well, they ought to be hung," finished the coach. Certainly no Michigan football aggregation has received such support for years. "Hal" Smith and "Bob" Bennett were on hand to lead the cheering, although it was so dark that the rooters found considerable difficulty in seeing the movements of the two leaders.

Staatz and Benton will start at the two extremities of the line. Benton

BAND SCOURS CAMPUS FOR BRILLIANT FESTIVAL

Michigan Concert Quartet Added to List of Attractions for the Band-Cer-Tainment

From "The Victors" to "The Yellow and Blue," the complete program of Michigan's first Band-Cer-Tainment, to go on the boards of Hill auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, will be announced tomorrow morning. Sparing no efforts to make every number the best that could be wrung out of the campus, it will not be until this late date that the organizers will be able to fill out the nine parts of the program.

The recent addition of the Michigan Concert quartet to Wednesday night's list of attractions settles the formerly doubtful question as to just what number is to take the title headliner for the evening. H. L. Davis, '17, leading

Cold World Looks Bright To Youth

Lack of Bail Keeps Discouraged Boy in Prison Cell For Six Months

A happy youth stepped out from behind prison bars yesterday morning and took a free, deep breath of the crisp autumn air. There was a smile on his face, for it was the first free breath he had drawn in six months.

When Edward L. Goggin came to Ann Arbor a year ago from his home in Honoeye Falls, N. Y., he intended to enter the university. Finding that his credits were short, and that he would not be admitted, Goggin decided to stay in Ann Arbor and earn his living waiting table rather than go home to his parents with the disappointing news. Everything ran along smoothly until the boarding-house which employed him lost some of its student trade, and so discharged many of its waiters, including Goggin.

That occurred last February, and positions were scarce. Penniless and out of work, Goggin in desperation signed his name to worthless checks. In May he was arrested for passing a forged check amounting to $8.00 on a State street haberdashery. All summer Goggin remained in jail, for there was no one to bail him out, awaiting the October term of court.

Yesterday the youth, a little pale from his summer's detention, stepped before the bar in Judge E. D. Kinne's court room wondering how long a sentence he would receive. Then the judge briefly and clearly stated that the sentence of Goggin, who had been found guilty, was suspended.

In suspending the sentence Judge Kinne said in part:

"It is five months since Goggin's arrest, confession and incarceration. His regret, his penitence and his purpose to reform I believe to be sincere. He is not yet 20 years of age. Since I have been upon the bench there has been no case with like features.

"There has been drawn to and about him a circle of most devoted friends, including all of the officers of court. Many delegations have presented to me their wishes in his behalf. I have neither met nor heard of a single enemy.

"The sentence in this case of this defendant is suspended, and if his life in future reflects the wishes and the earnest belief of his multitude of friends his experience in Ann Arbor will not have been in vain."

Goggin was given a position yesterday noon.

SALE OF STUDENT DIRECTORY BREAKS ALL FORMER RECORDS

Sales of the Student Directory broke all records yesterday. From 4 o'clock, when the sales commenced, up to the time of going to press nearly 1,000 copies were disposed of.

The books are on sale at the book and co-op store, and it is expected that the balance of the entire edition, consisting of 2,100 copies, will be sold out this morning.

PREMIER BRIAND FORMS COALITION CABINET TO GUIDE FRENCH AFFAIRS

Representatives of All Factions Are Included in Reorganized Body

OUTLOOK EVEN GLOOMIER THAN BEFORE CONCERNING BALKANS

BOTH GREECE AND ROUMANIA SAID TO BE CONSIDERING NEW GERMAN OFFER

Paris, Oct. 29.—Aristide Briand, the newly-appointed premier, announced today that he has drawn up his cabinet and would submit the names for confirmation tomorrow.

The cabinet as outlined by the premier will contain representatives of all factions, political differences having been forgotten in the formation of the new body.

The list of members in the new cabinet as it will be submitted tomorrow follows:

Premier and minister of foreign affairs, Aristide Briand.
Minister of war, General Galliéni.
Minister of marine, Admiral Lacaze.
Minister of finance, Ribot.
Minister of commerce, Clementel.
Minister of public works, Feudet.
Minister of justice, Viviani.
Minister of the colonies, Doumergue.
Minister of public instruction and war invention, Painleve.
Minister of agriculture, Meline.
Minister of state without portfolio, De Freycinet.
Secretary of state with seat in cabinet, Tampos.

MAY SIFT DETAILS OF GERMANS' PLOT

Federal Agents Sleuth for Allies in Hoboken For Teuton Explosives

SHADOW "LITTLE FATHERLAND"

New York, Oct. 29.—Full details of the plans drawn up in Germany and forwarded here for the wrecking of American munitions plants and vessels carrying war supplies to the Allies, may be made upon the arrest of the man who attempted to carry out the plans in this country.

Federal agents are making a thorough search of Hoboken's "little Germany," where explosives are thought to have been hidden by German interests. Money sent from Germany is thought to have afforded the means of obtaining these explosives for the purpose of making bombs and mines.

Plenty of evidence has been brought to light which leaves no doubt in legal minds here that there has been considerable violation of neutrality. Many details concerning the findings that have been made already are being withheld, but the authorities expect to be able to take the matter into the courts within a short time.

SOLICITORS GAIN $16,000 TOTAL FOR CLUBHOUSE TODAY

UNION BUILDING FUND NOW HAS $534,416 TOWARD MILLION GOAL

DETROIT GAINS MOST GROUND

Ann Arbor, Chicago, Minneapolis and New York Among Cities to Report

Michigan Union campaigners yesterday shoved the building fund total up to $534,416, the Friday subscriptions amounting approximately to $16,000.

Detroit committeemen showed the biggest returns from yesterday's canvass, the workers in that city reporting $6,000, which boosts the Detroit total for the month to $151,259. The men in the state metropolis report continued enthusiasm on the part of alumni there and the solicitors have been everywhere received with a hearty welcome.

Ann Arbor was another city to swell the day's totals with an unusual amount, the local committee reporting $2,370 for the Friday campaign. This brings the monthly total up to $17,815, which compares favorably with the amounts subscribed in other cities.

Chicago alumni added a considerable amount to their Thursday totals, the Windy City workers announcing a grand total of $31,000 for the campaign to date. The enthusiasm of the Chicago men was commented on favorably by President Harry B. Hutchi-

NORMAN ANGELL TO SPEAK HERE ON WAR

Noted Writer on International Questions Comes to Ann Arbor in December

AUTHOR OF "GREAT ILLUSION"

Norman Angell, author and newspaper manager, will talk in Hill auditorium on the night of December 3. His subject will be some phase of the Great War, on which he is perhaps the most authoritative writer today.

In addition to full page articles which appear almost weekly in Sunday supplements, he has been turning out a vast number of magazine articles. "The Great Illusion" is perhaps his most widely read book, and it has been translated into nearly every language on the globe.

Mr. Angell was born in 1874, and grew up through a system of private education at home and in connection with a French lycee. While still a young man, he migrated from Europe to western United States. He became a ranchman, a prospector and later a newspaper cub reporter.

His success dated from the year he left for Europe (in 1898) to correspond for several papers, and to write books. Of the seven or eight books which he has turned out in the last several years, nearly all are on international relations of the various powers.

DR. DAVID STARR JORDAN WILL URGE SCIENTIFIC PEACE TOMORROW NIGHT

Chancellor of Leland Stanford Junior University Speaks Under Auspices of Wesleyan Guild

TALKER AT METHODIST CHURCH EXPOUNDS GREAT WAR STATUS

"LEAGUE TO ENFORCE PEACE" FOUNDER MAKES HIT IN PAST

Dr. David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford Junior university, will stand by the guns for scientific amelioration and restriction of war and scientific peace in his talk at the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. His subject is, "The Last Cost of War."

Dr. Jordan is coming directly from the convention of state teachers at Saginaw. He will be entertained at the home of Prof. J. E. Reighard, who was a student in his undergraduate days under Dr. Jordan.

The New York Times spoke highly of the California chancellor after an address at New York a few days ago. Dr. Jordan has been active in the east in the founding of the League to Enforce Peace, of which ex-President Taft is now the head. Extracts from statements made by Dr. Jordan in New York are as follows:

"There are not many encouraging things in our time," stated Dr. Jordan. "The period is one of the blackest the world has ever known, and the outlook is rosy to us mainly because we in America are accustomed to take rosy views of things. But there is one thing that is encouraging, and that is that so many people in the world are trying to think out ways not of stopping the war but of making it so that there will not be another; of so adjusting the affairs of the world that another war will be practically impossible.

Dr. Jordan says that about 30 schemes have been carefully developed all having in view war prevention, and that one of them, with which a large part of the American people are acquainted, is the League to Enforce Peace.

GREEKS CONTINUE TO KEEP WARRING FORCES IN DOUBT

CRISIS IN GRECIAN CABINET BECOMES MORE CRITICAL DAY BY DAY

JOFFRE AND TIFFANY MEET

General Advance Along Whole Line in Serbia Reported; Teutons Gain 50 Miles

London, Oct. 29.—The crisis in the Balkans precipitated by the failure of the Greek government to take a definite stand for either the allies or the Teutonic forces overshadows all other considerations here today.

The attitude of the Athens government is as puzzling as it was when the invasion of Serbia began, and the crisis in the Greek cabinet is becoming more critical each day.

The Entente powers have sent word to King Constantine to either enter the war against the Teutonic forces or demobilize, while the Austrian and German diplomats in Athens are doing everything in their power to stimulate opposition.

A Greek vessel passing from Scorados to Salonika sighted a submarine which rose to the surface and hoisted and dipped the Austrian colors while the crew lined up above board. Shouts of "Long live Greece!" resounded from the submarine.

Joffre Confers With Tiffany

London, Oct. 29.—General Joffre arrived in this city today to confer with Earl Tiffany, secretary of state for war, going at once to the war office after his arrival here. General Joffre was closeted with Earl Tiffany for some time.

It was reported here today that King George had suffered injuries while riding today, the Prince of Wales arriving from France with the news, and proceeding at once to Buckingham palace upon his arrival in London.

Germans Gain in Serbia

Berlin, Oct. 29.—An authoritative report of the German staff says that there has been a general advance along the whole line in Serbia and that the Teutonic forces have pressed the natives troops back for 50 miles along the main railroad from Belgrade.

The Serbian defense is rapidly weakening, according to the German report, and the Anglo-French force is fighting its way desperately toward Nish in an effort to reinforce the Serbian defenders before they are forced to give up the city.

The reported capture of Pirot by the Bulgarian army of invasion was confirmed here today by more complete accounts from Sofia. Pirot is 35 miles southeast of Nish, lying 10 miles inside the Serbian frontier. Pirot lies on the Nish-Constantinople railroad and has been putting up a stubborn defense against the attacking Bulgarian force for several days.

Fighting in West Not Decisive

Berlin, Oct. 29.—There has been considerable fighting in the western theater with no decisive results as yet, while both Germans and Russians claim the advantage in the battle that has been raging about Dvinsk. Fighting also continues along the whole northern front, with both sides claiming minor victories.

LOOKING AHEAD.

We can't see anything unreasonable in the decision of the banqmen to stick for a black and white promise for permanent support, or nothing. Admittedly, the acceptance of the two hundred dollar appropriation, granted by the board of directors of the athletic association, would take the band through the balance of the year, but we agree with the members of that organization in regarding this year as purely incidental to the years to come.

Several members of the board in control of athletics have informally given assurance of a solid financial basis for the band in the future. All that the band asks is the formal, not informal, vote of the board to such an effect, and stripped of contingencies. When one stops to consider the ease with which indefinite promises can be made and the similar ease with which they can be forgotten or kept from materializing, can the band be blamed for requiring something more definite and tangible?

The question, we take it, is not immediately concerned with spring concerts or music at the remaining ball games this year, but with the Varsity band of the future and its maintenance. Since the upper athletic board will not meet for some time, why couldn't the informal promises of its members be made official by means of votes by letter or some other improvised method? Favorable action would witness the reorganization of the band immediately and in time for the many impending athletic events.

WOMEN TO AMEND LEAGUE RULES

Vote for Constitutional Amendments at Next Meeting.

Women of the executive board of the Women's league will vote upon the following amendments to the League constitution at the next meeting May 10, preparatory to organizing a permanent self-governing council for women:

Each sorority and league house having the same qualifications as a sorority shall nominate two of their members to serve on the executive board of the league. From such nominations one representative for each of the above organizations shall be elected at the general election in May.

New groups, either sorority or independent, entitled to representation on the league board, arising between times of the general election shall submit two nominations for delegates to the executive committee which body shall elect one of the nominees as representative.

A league house shall be constituted to mean a house in which the majority are independent girls. Such a house shall have parlor privileges and self-government and have been approved by the dean of women and the president of the league.

Two delegates at large may be elected from nominations made by the executive committee, at the general election to represent girls outside of league houses and sororities.

Nominations may be made during the first fourteen days in May, and must be posted a week before the election, which shall be any time between the middle and end of May.

FEATURE ENGINEER EXHIBIT.

Faculty Commends Undertaking as an Opportunity to Advertise University.

The making of liquid air, and the sending of messages by wireless gratis for all visitors, will be special features of the big engineering exhibition which is to be held in the engineering building Thursday, May 15. Although it was originally intended to allow only one day for the big show, indications are that so many visitors will attend that it will be impossible to accommodate all in that length of time, so the time may be extended to two days.

"The exhibition of the engineering department work is to be one of the finest things for that department and the university as a whole that has been undertaken in many years," said Pres. H. B. Hutchins.

"Not only to the visitors, but also to the faculties and students of other departments will it furnish an opportunity to keep track of what we are doing, what our equipment is, and what our methods of work are" said Prof. H. C. Sadler, of the marine department.

The exhibition, if successful this year, will be repeated as an annual event, with the prospects of including other departments as soon as feasible.

DECREE NO FLOWERS AND CABS AT SOPH PROM THIS EVENING.

All of the tickets for the annual Soph Prom which will be held tonight at the Armory have been disposed of. The grand march will begin promptly at 9:00 o'clock, ending in the figures 1915.

The decree of no flowers and no carriages has come out from those in charge, as most of those attending desire to make the affair as informal as possible.
