Anarchism Finds Root in Liberty

More Freedom in Russia Than in U. S. Says Emma Goldman in Wednesday Talk

"Anarchism is the philosophy of a new social order based on liberty unrestricted by man-made law. It adheres to the theory that all forms of government rest on violence, and are therefore wrong and harmful, as well as unnecessary." This was the definition of anarchism set forth by Miss Emma Goldman Wednesday night in her lecture on "Anarchism and Human Nature."

"There is a law for everything in America. In Russia, despite the yoke of the bureaucracy, there is more freedom than in this country. The fact that there is a law for something does not prove that a thing is right or wrong. Laws are made by the majority class who know less about what is better for the minority class than that class knows itself."

Apropos to the violence accredited to the anarchists, Miss Goldman said, "The violence done by the anarchists is but a drop in the bucket compared to the organized violence created by the government every single day. Such institutions as the militia, the navy, capital punishment, and the like are responsible for more violence than ever can be attributed to anarchism. Anarchism repudiates violence—that is why it opposes government."

Sophomores Entertained at Y. W. C. A.

New Sophomore girls were entertained yesterday afternoon at a party given in their honor by the Intercollegiate committee and cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. A group of sophomores who were here last year, as well as several faculty women, were invited to meet these new members of the sophomore class. Dancing and games provided entertainment for all.

Dean Effinger Speaks at Alma

Dean John R. Effinger, of the literary college, left Ann Arbor last night for Alma, where he will deliver an address at the Alma college chapel services, on Dr. James R. Angell. The services will be held at 3:45 o'clock this morning. Dean Effinger will return to Ann Arbor Saturday noon.

AT THE THEATERS

TODAY

Majestic—Vaudeville.

Orpheum—Blanche Sweet in "The Storm." Also Bray Cartoons.

Arcade—Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "Big Tremaine." Drew comedy also.

AT THE WHITNEY.

"The Only Girl," which will be given at the Whitney theater Saturday, Dec. 9, is the work of Victor Herbert in conjunction with Henry Blossom. "The Red Mill" and "Mlle. Modiste" are the work of the same composer, and the new work is considered to excell any of his former efforts. The musical numbers have the old familiar Herbert lilt and swing.

The Washington Square Players of New York, who will come to the Whitney theater Tuesday, Dec. 16, will play in ten cities between New York and Chicago.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Emerson's law of compensation is well exemplified in the two performances at the Majestic this week, the bill presented last night entirely making up for the lack of appeal of the first half performance.

The bill is headlined by Pepple and Greenwald's "Revue De Vogue," a combination of musical numbers, well chosen scenery, and some good dancing. The costumes are some of the handsomest seen on the bills thus far this season, and their songs are new.

Ernie and Ernie were the hit of the evening. All jokes of one-legged men not being able to dance, will have to go into the discard since their appearance here. Ernie, one-legged and supported only by a crutch, gave one of the cleverest exhibitions of dancing and acrobatics that it would be possible to give. He well deserves the name of "the merrie monopede."

Jas. Thompson & Co. in their farce playlet, "An Affair of Honor," the plot of which is woven around the alleged starvation of one Sergeant Gun, and as he avers, "minus the ammunition," is well played and offers an excellent chance for some real negro comedy, thankfully not cluttered with songs.

Howe and Howe, burlesque comedy mind-readers, completely mystified the audience, and left the question "How? How?" Their names are well chosen for their act.

The Rambler Sisters opened the bill with a pleasing little singing and dancing act.

ENGINEERING NEWS

A trip to the aeronautical exhibit which takes place in New York during the week commencing, Feb. 8, is being planned by the students of the aeronautical department. Prof. F. W. Pawlowski the head of the department, has been asked to deliver lectures at the exhibit.

In connection with this trip the men will visit the plants of eastern aeroplane manufacturers, and it may be possible for some of the local research squad to spend a few days at the Curtis plant in Buffalo.

The coming aeroplane show will be held in the Grand Central Palace and will occupy the same position of importance in the aeronautical world as the New York automobile show does in the realm of autos. Formerly the aero show at Paris was the biggest and most important one of its kind in the entire world, but on account of the present war the scene of this international event will be transferred this year to the Grand Central Palace.

The wireless station of the University will participate tonight in another practice relay with the stations in this district of the amateur radio league. The local station being a key station, receives its messages directly from the Great Lakes station at Chicago, and then transmits them to 26 smaller stations in Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky.

In line with other improvements an aerial will be attached to the old power house chimney by the student operators. The chimney is about 100 feet in height, and thus affords an ideal substitute for a mast or tower.

Tonight is "high society" night in the engineering college, for the juniors hold a "slide rule shuffle" at the Packard while the Camp Davis "alumni" are doing the "light fantastic" at the Union.

Tickets for the former affair can be obtained at the Technic desk for one dollar, while the countersign for admission at the latter dance will also be revealed at the desk.

SENIOR WOMEN HAVE FIRST GATHERING AT GYMNASIUM

From the university archives, the newspaper for 6 December 1916:

Members of the Case Wireless Club, last Friday and constructed and put up a new antenna, stretching from the Electricity to the Chemistry building. The antenna is about 125- feet long, and was put up in order to comply government laws which state that station of this kind must be able to tune down to a 300 meter wave ¦ length. Tests with the University of Michigan were made Saturday
