WITH THE GUN, THE THIMBLE, OR THE HOE

The line which separates Americans who will wear uniforms of the army or navy from those who do not is not the line of demarcation separating those who take active part in the war from the slackers who will remain passive. President Wilson's powerful message to the Amehican people clearly brought out the fact that placing the army and navy on a war footing was only one of the enormous tasks confronting this country in converting its resources into efficient fighting units.

There will be many at Michigan who for different reasons will not be able or be qualified to go to the front, but there is not one of us who cannot enlist in the great army of national service. Many more will be needed in agricultural and industrial activities than on the firing line..

At present definite war policies have not been decided by congress, complete organization has not been effected. A cloud of indefiniteness hangs over the military and naval plans, and every branch of activity of war preparation. But awaiting more decisive action there are hundreds of things that individuals may discover to do and act upon voluntarily. Women of the University, already engaged in active work for the Red Cross, saw an opportunity to help in the work of the intelligence bureau, and have co-operated with the Michigan Union in this valuable service.

Let us be on the lookout for some way in which to aid the government whether it be with the gun, the thimble, or the hoe.

PLEASE!

"Please!"

These little signs which you have seen around the campus are requests, not orders They were put there in the interest of a neater, more sightly .campus Already there is complex network of walks laid out with the convenience of the students and faculty in mind. Possibly one or two more are needed to supply newer short cuts. If so, they will undoubtedly be built. But unless it is absolutely necessary, let the little sign serve as a reminder to you.

"Please!"

Dartmouth to Drop Junior Promenade

Hanover, N. H., April 17. — Dartmouth's junior promenade will not be held this year, if a resolution sent to the non-athletic council is passed by that body. The resoultion urges the dropping of the event from this year's activities, owing to its inconsistency with the general serious tenor of the times.

Student Enlists as Radio Operator

UNUSUAL PROGRAM TO BE RENDERED IN MAY

FAMOUS ARTISTS TO APPEAR AT THE 24TH ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL

Wednesday evening, May 2, will mark the opening of the twenty-fourth annual May festival and it is doubtful if a more comparable list of artists has ever appeared in this city.

Madame Louise Homer, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company will be the soloist for the opening concert and will be heard in three arias, accompanied by the Chicago Symphony orchestra. This orchestra, conducted by Frederick Stock, will play a Dvorak overture, a Brahms symphony, and a Dance Rhapsody by Delius, and Sebelius' symphonic poem, "Finlandia."

Choral Union to Sing

Thursday evening the University Choral Union will sing Elgar's "Dream of Gerontius," with Morgan Gingston, tenor; Christine Miller, contralto; William Wade Hinshaw, bass, and Gustaf Holmquist, bass, as soloists. The Chicago Symphony orchestra will open the program with Wagner's Prelude "Parsifal."

Ethel Leginska, the talented pianist, will appear Friday afternoon, and will play Rubenstein's concerto for Pianoforte No. 4, D minor, Op. 70. The children's chorus will sing Fletcher's "The Walrus and the Carpenter," and the orchestra will present Mozart's Symphony in C major.

The soloist for the Friday evening concert will be Amelita Galli-Curci, the coloratura soprano, whose success and rapid rise to popularity has been phenomenal. This unusual artist will be heard in three arias. The remainder of the program will consist of orchestral numbers played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Organ Recital Saturday

The customary organ recital on Saturday afternoon will be given by Richard Keys Biggs with Mrs. Anna Schramm-Imig, contralto, as soloist. Mr. Biggs is a graduate of the University School of Music and has won a reputation for himself as an organist. Mrs. Imig is a member of the faculty of the School of Music and is familiar to music lovers of this city.

Saturday evening the climax of the entire festival will be reached when Verdi's "Aida" will be given by the Choral Union and an all-star operatic caste of soloists, including Maude Fay and Lois Johnston, sopranos; Margarete Matzenauer, contralto; Martinelli, tenor; Giuseppe De Luca and Chase B. Sikes, baritones, and William Wade Hinshaw and Gustaf Holmquist, bass.

German Orders Shown in Library

Several interesting proclamations, giving orders from the German commanders to the people of the parts of France and Belgium under German control, are being exhibited in the corridor of the Library. These notices have been translated into English and bound into a publication called "Scraps of Paper." Comments are made showing the cruel methods of the Germans as revealed in the notices.

Probably the most important document of the collection is a notice to the people of Brussels in which Edith Cavell and nine others are sentenced to death for treason to the German government. Another paper warns people of Liege that the Germany army will pass through Belgium, and asks the inhabitants for free passage through their country. Another gives notice that the city of Andennes has been burned and 110 citizens shot because of the resistance made to the German army.
