TENNIS PROSPECTS GOOD THIS SEASON

Hamer and Egbert, Last Year's Stars, In Fold; Steketee Showing Fine Form on Courts

Prospects for a winning tennis team this year are exceptionally bright. With Hamer and Egbert, runners up in the finals in 1916 back in the fold, and Steketee, Bartz, Harrison and Shields wielding the racquet in great fashion, Michigan will be well represented in tennis circles, even should there be no novice present himself to the utter humiliation of the "gang," as has been the custom in past years.

Hamer, Egbert and Steketee are well known on the court here, all having taken part in tournaments previously. Enthusiasts will remember that in year before last's tournament Hamer had tucked the first set in the finals with Codd snugly under his arm and had towed away five games in the second set, only to slow up and lose the match. In the semi-finals of the same tournament, Egbert, after a hard and close scrap with Hamer was forced to fall before the swift attack of the little Californian. These two men, no doubt, will be on the squad next spring and will, with the abundance of other material, develop into as good a team as has been seen on the courts here for several years.

But what of the tournament now being played? Too early for predictions? Yes, very much so, but we'll make a prediction soon on the finals and semifinals. Watch for them!

PRINCETON CREWS TRAIN DAILY FOR FALL REGATTA

With nine to 10 crews out every afternoon, the coming crew season at Princeton will be as favorable as in the past and the outlook for a regatta this fall is bright. Several of last year's experienced men have not returned but the varsity material is now rounding up in good shape. The sophomores have an advantage in the number of experienced men back. The junior and senior classes have several of their old crew as a formidable nucleus to begin with.

Numerous prizes, numerals and individual prizes will be awarded to the members of the winning crews. Two special prizes, the Carnegie cup and the William Morton Clair Dagget memory cup, will be presented to the class winning in the eights and the fours, respectively.

WITNESSES TESTIFY BEFORE JUDGE W. F. DOTY YESTERDAY

Three witnesses appeared yesterday before Judge W. F. Doty investigating the rumor that one member of the local draft board received a bribe of $600 for illegally exempting a man from national army service.

The investigation is being carried on in secret, and Prosecuting Attorney Lehman is conducting the examination of witnesses.

A prominent woman will be called to answer questions of the investigators tomorrow. She is believed to be in possession of facts which will further the probe.

"I believe that the charges against one member of our board are false," declared County Clerk Smith, Thursday.

It is said that members of the University faculty may be called before the jury.

No information will be given out, according to Prosecuting Attorney Lehman, until all the testimony has been taken.

The men on the draft board are: Sheriff Lindenschmidt, Dr. R. G. MacKenzie, Dr. Louis Rominger, Deputy Sheriff William Essinger and Edwin Smith, county clerk.

"Service" Is New Military Organ

Aims to Be of Value and Assistance to Michigan Soldiers and Civilians

Lansing, Oct. 19.—With two ex-newspaper men as secretary and assistant secretary of the Michigan war preparedness board, it was to be assumed that sooner or later they would have their finger in a publication pie of some sort.

Col. Roy C. Vandercook and Major M. J. Phillips have sent to press the first number of Service, which, according to its leading editorial, "will endeavor to be of value and assistance to all citizens of Michigan, whether in uniform or doing their share in other capacities."

Articles on Michigan's permanent forces, Michigan state troops, improvements of Grayling camp grounds, county councils of defense and information on the war board's arrangements for caring for the state's sick and wounded and the relief of the dependents of those in service will be featured. Other articles will deal with work of the food preparedness committee, the work of women aiding military organizations, the national army, reserve equipment for soldiers, road building and other matters of state interest.

GOVERNMENT TO TAX DETROIT UNITED RAILWAY'S TICKETS

Patrons of the Detroit United railways who have occasion to travel beyond the 35 cent distance limit will be compelled to pay an additional fee of eight per cent on and after Nov. 1. Three per cent will be required on all freight charges.

Government provisions declare that these taxes must be assumed by the person receiving service of the railway, and that the transportation company shall act only as agent in the collection of them. Like conditions have been placed upon "rail or water or any mechanical form of motor power in competition with carriers by rail or water."

These taxes will be collected either at the waiting rooms or by the conductors. Persons stocking up with tickets before Nov. 1 will gain no advantage, as the government has taken special measures to protect itself against violation of the law in this manner.

WASHTENAW POST DEPRIVED OF SECOND-CLASS MAILING RIGHTS

The Washtenaw Post is to be issued next week as third class mailing matter pending the decision of the postmaster-general on the application for a new second-class permit.

Second-class privileges were taken away from the Washtenaw Post because of the alleged seditious and unpatriotic utterances of its editor, Eugene Helber.

A deposit of $21 or the rate of one cent per copy has been made at the local postoffice for third class mailing privileges to which the Post is still entitled. In case of a favorable de-

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN TRIANGLE PLAY, "THE LAMB."

AT THE MAJESTIC, SUNDAY ONLY

If you like a real fight, such as Douglas Fairbanks had with the Yaqui Indians in the filming of "The Lamb," you should see the picture at the Majestic, Sunday. Fairbanks says it's the liveliest scrimmage he has ever took part in on any studio lot. In an attack by the Indians he was forced to use his machine gun to quell their fighting ardor.

AT THE WHITNEY

"Flora Bella," the Casino theater, New York, musical triumph of the present season, will be the attraction at the Whitney tonight, with a cast of 50 people. The producer of this fascinating offering, which recently completed a six months' run in New York will present this magnificent production here with an unusual cast of artists. The chorus also has received the attention of careful selection.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Lightness and laughter feature the bill at the Majestic theater for the second half of the week. From "The Schoolmaster" a country school act in which Patsy, the class fool, furnished great amusement, to "The Kill Kare Couple" in which long-legged John Hennings brought down the house with his contortions and stories, the laughter was continuous.

Jessie Morris and Jack Beasley in "Their Own Idea of Fun" frequently found that it accorded with the audience's idea of the same thing. Billy Clark and Ethel Chapelle in "The Sales-lady and the Porter" and Foley and Massino in a "strong man" act complete the program.

NAVY OPENS SECOND DRIVE FOR TELEGRAPH OPERATORS

There are also openings for men with mechanical training and education who wish to train for commission in the naval reserve flying corps.

Making of Sweaters Occupies Time of Michigan's Fair Girl Students

Some of the girls on this campus will be getting "Crosseyeditis," if they don't watch out. It's no uncommon thing to go to a lecture or class and see several young maidens, demurely knitting, with one eye on the professor, and one eye carefully guiding the needle on that sweater for Romeo.

Several young women have filled onlookers with mingled feelings of amazement, envy, and wonder, by doing their library reading and knitting at the same time with a judicious division of eyesight.

At football games, on hikes, between meals and courses, the click of needles continues, and even when entertaining their beaus in the parlor, they knit industriously. Its gotten so bad, that one sweet young miss electrified her caller by asking him to substitute a box of yarn for the usual box of candy.
