League Conducts Yuletide Parties

Vacation entertainment for University girls was furnished by the Women's league, as an afternoon tea party, a sleigh ride, and a dance on New Year's eve.

Sixty girls attended a party given at the Alpha Phi house, and 22 went on the sleigh ride. At 10:30 o'clock, after passing by nearly every girl's home, refreshments were served at the home of Miriam Schlotterbeck, '21, and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing and singing Michigan songs.

The New Year's eve dance was held in the Arcade hall. Over 30 couples were present.

RADIO SENDS OUT HOLIDAY MESSAGES

Sending out carols on Christmas eve and 1920 greetings on New Year's eve kept the University wireless telephone laboratory busy during the holidays.

Lieut.-Col. John P. Lucas, head of the University R. O. T. C. and Prof. P. H. Evans, of the engineering department, had charge of the wireless telegraph. Both radio telegraph and radio telephone were used.

More than a dozen amateur wireless telephone operators notified Colonel Lucas that they had succeeded in picking up the carols sent out Christmas eve. The New Year's greetings sent to all parts of the country Dec. 31 consisted of a 50-word message written by Rev. Lloyd Douglas, of the local Congregational church.

JOURNALISTS NEED NEW CLASSROOMS

Journalism classes will be held during the remainder of this semester in the Ann Arbor Press building, as usual. Two of the rooms which have been utilized heretofore by the department of journalism have been thrown into one to give larger classroom space.

Prof. John R. Brumm states that the steady increase in enrollment in the classes in journalism will necessitate holding the classes some other place during the next semester. It is probable that some of the class rooms in the new library will be utilized.

EX-REGENT BARBOUR DONATES OLD HOME

The proceeds from the lease of the home will go toward the scholarship fund for oriental women already established by Mr. Barbour. This latest gift of Mr. Barbour brings the total of his gifts to the University to nearly $500,000.
