UNIVERSITY LIBRARY OWNS VALUABLE COIN COLLECTION

Approximately 10,000 copper, silver, and gold coins, valued at $15,000, are now owned by the library, according to Librarian W. W. Bishop. About 8,000 of the coins are copper and have been collected in America, Europe and Africa.

The coins are the result of a number of donations to the University, the most important of which is a collection from Ptolemaic Egypt which is considered the most complete assortment of this period in the world.

A room will be provided in the proposed museum for these coins, which are essential to the study of history, fine arts, and archaeology.

Cleveland Golfers Hocking Clubs

Cleveland, O., Feb. 3.—Cleveland detectives making daily rounds of pawnshops here declare the one thing they never run across among the list of articles "hocked" is the golf club.

Whether golfers as a class are beyond financial difficulties to the extent of pawning their sticks or whether their clubs are last "to be hocked" in an emergency is unknown, but it seems that golf clubs are among the few things which may not be found in pawnshops.

MAY HAVE RADIO NEWS SERVICE HERE

Electrical Engineering Department Willing to Co-operate With Press

PACIFIC COAST SCHOOLS NOW SENDING WIRELESS NEWS

In the old days before the war, when amateur radio was in full swing, Michigan's station over on the engineering building was nationally known and her old call, "8XA," was nightly heard all the way from Frisco to the Atlantic and clear across the gulf to the south. But of late the set has been practically out of operation and its call is now among the list of the has-beens, wirelessly speaking.

When questioned recently, however, regarding the possibility of re-installing at Michigan something of a similar, though more practical, nature to that in vogue before the war by the installing of a radio news service for the carrying on of dispatch work along a near-commercial line between the various schools in this part of the country, Prof. Joseph H. Cannon, of the electrical engineering department, expressed his approval of the idea, and stated that the station here would be ready to co-operate.

Coast Schools Co-operate

The suggestion that such a service might be instituted came partially as a result of the finding of a report in the University of Washington Daily to the effect that arrangements are now under way among the colleges of the coast to establish an exchange radio news service in connection with the Pacific Intercollegiate Press association.

According to the story a message has already been picked up from the University of California by a Seattle amateur reading, "We are ready to communicate," and Stanford and Oregon universities, as well as the University of Montana, are ready for the work to begin. The Oregon Agricultural college also expects to have its set ready for operation by March 1.

The purpose of the service is to make possible the handling of news dispatches betwen the various colleges and to enable them to send back and forth the reports from various athletic contests by wireless, instead of having to use the telephone or wire as at present. It was in the hope that such an arrangement might be worked out in this part of the country as well as in the West that the subject was brought up.

Lack of Responsibility

"The only reason," Professor Cannon said, "why we have not put this station in operation on the same plan as before the war is that we were always troubled in the radio room by the presence of a lot of youngsters who had no business to be there. We had to pay operators in order to have someone responsible for the apparatus, but they seemed to want to go down there and use the set more as a plaything than for any serious work.

"We can't afford to pay out $600 a year," he went on, "simply for the pleasure of a few students, and so we closed down the station from continuous work. But," he added, "if any of the students want to do any serious experimental work that set will be open for their use."

Professor Cannon also added that if the publications wished at any time to use the University apparatus for the handling of any sort of news dispatches or for the receiving or transmitting of the scores of athletic contests he would have no objection to the set being used.

Radio to Be Used More.

In fact a letter was recently received from Purdue to the effect that the score of the Purdue-Michigan basketball game last Monday night would be sent out by radio from Lafayette as the game progressed and only the fact that this communication was received too late to permit the use of the set for that purpose prevented the station from taking advantage of it.

In regard to the complaint that the station had not been used lately for amateur communication, as it was used before the war, Professor Cannon stated that he felt that radio had now reached the stage when it was no longer merely a plaything. "When the signal corps gets its set up, however," he added, "they will probably keep a regular watch as it has been suggested we ought to do."

Motorcycle Industry Not Hard Hit

In contrast to the automobile situation there has been no shutting down of the motorcycle industry. While not in a normal condition the industry is active and running smoothly. Motorcyclists in general have not abandoned their machines because of the open winter. Dealers and manufacturers expect a normal and prosperous season during the coming year.
