SENIOR LITS NAME ROBERT GIBSON AS CLASS PRESIDENT

MR. NORCOP WILL READ SENIOR LAWS; R. M. RYAN TO LEAD JUNIORS

SOPH AND JUNIOR LITS POSTPONE NOMINATIONS

Frosh Engineers to Hold Assembly Next Wednesday to Elect Officers

All classes in the Law school, the senior lit class, and the junior pharmine chose their class officers in the elections held yesterday. Both candidates for vice-president of the junior laws were declared ineligible and the two candidates for secretary of the senior law class received the same number of votes. The vote in the senior literary class was reported to be unusually light.

Those chosen to lead their classes for this year are as follows: senior lits, president, Robert Gibson; vice-president, Ruth Werkheiser; secretary, Elizabeth Hertz; and treasurer, Burton K. Dunlop; senior laws, president, M. P. Norcop; vice-president, J. B. Boyle; secretary, Gladys Wells and G. W. Rouse, tied; and treasurer, H. L. Smart.

Junior laws chose for president R. M. Ryan; vice-president, both candidates disqualified because of ineligibility; secretary, W. M. Seeley; and treasurer, J. H. Allen; freshman laws, president, J. J. Wolfe; vice-president, Forest Hyndman; secretary, T. J. Voorhees; and treasurer, W. A. Ewart; senior pharmics, president, H. A. Whitney; vice-president, T. C. Daniels; secretary, H. Anderson; and treasurer, E. F. Tronsberg.

Due to poor attendance at former meetings, nominations of the sophomore and junior literary classes have been declared invalid and meetings for the purpose of nominating new candidates will be held the first of next week with the elections coming in the latter part of the week. Freshman engineering students will hold an assembly for the purpose of nominating candidates for the class offices next Wednesday.

MUST SELL ALL O. S. U. TICKETS BY MONDAY

BIG DEMAND FOR SEATS BY OHIO ROOTERS IS CAUSE OF ACTION

Owing to the fact that football officials at Ohio State are finding themselves unable to fill all the orders for tickets for the Michigan-Ohio State game at Columbus they have wired Athletic association officials here to return immediately all tickets which are not sold to students or alumni here.

As a consequence Harry Tibbitson announced yesterday at the athletic office that all the remaining tickets for the Wolverine-Buckeye game will be placed on sale at the office in the Press building, on Monday morning for all those who desire them. If the total number remaining of the 18,500 tickets are not sold before the following morning they will be sent back to Columbus where they are in great demand.

Naturally officials here do not want to deprive any one who wants tickets of the opportunity of securing them as long as there are any left. At the rate at which reservations are now coming in it looks as if there will be no tickets remaining after Monday night as it is expected that there will be only a few remaining to put on general sale on Monday. However, if any remain they will be shipped back to Columbus next Tuesday.

All the tickets which have already been reserved by students and townspeople here will be mailed out today and Monday. It is expected that more than 75,000 visitors will be in Columbus for the game next week from today, which will make it the largest affair of its kind in the middle west.

Photographers Wanted for 'Ensian

Tryouts are wanted for the photographic staff of the 1923 Michiganensian. All persons interested in photography and desirous of getting some practical experience in this work are asked to report to the Michiganensian office in the Press building or to phone Vlack 1604-J.

Spanish Society Plans 7 Lectures

Some Aspects of Contemporary Spanish Life," Atlantic Toros Soldiuds, is the subject of the first of a series of seven lectures to be given under the auspices of La Sociedad Hispanica, the evening of October 19. All of the seven lectures will be in Spanish and several of them will be illustrated. The price charged for the series of lectures is fifty cents.

NAVY'S MYSTERY PLANE FAVORED AS WINNER IN PULITZER AIR RACE

Mystery Plane and Lieutenants Sanderson and Rittenhouse, Navy Pilots

A tiny monoplane dubbed the "mystery ship" of the navy, is favored to win the Pulitzer air derby at Detroit today. The little fiver will be piloted by Lieutenant Sanderson. The "Bee Line" racer, another doubt eashrouded navy plane, Lieutenant Rittenhouse, pilot, also is conceded a chance to win. Many of the leading army, navy and civilian flyers will take part in the meet.

PROF. BLANCHARD TO ATTEND MEET

To Act as University Representative at National Highway Transport Convention

MORE THAN 1,200 DELEGATES ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Prof. Arthur H. Blanchard, head of the department of highway engineering and highway transport, has been appointed by President Marion L. Burton as the University's official representative at the second national conference on Highway Engineer and Highway Transport Education to be held in Washington, D. C., on Oct. 26, 27, and 28, under the auspices of the United States commissioner of education and the National Highway Education board. More than 1,200 representatives of universities, the United States Bureau of Public Roads, state highway departments, and the automotive industries will be present at the convention.

Addresses on various educational problems and reports from 10 national committees on various phases of highway engineering and highway transport education will be presented at the meetings. Professor Blanchard is to deliver an address on "The Trend of Highway Transport Education" on Oct. 26, and will speak on "English Transport Practice" on Oct. 27. Prof. Hershel C. Smith, assistant professor of highway engineering, will present as chairman the report of the committee on "Graduate Courses in Highway Engineering and Highway Transport," and Prof. John C. Bateman, also assistant professor of highway engineering and in charge of the state highway laboratory, will serve on the committee on highway laboratory courses.

Michigan's prominence on the program, according to Professor Blanchard, is in recognition of the fact that this University has more graduate students in highway engineering and highway transport than the combined enrollment in such a course in all other universities.

Bids for Trip Concessions Open

Bids for concessions to sell ice cream, candy and magazines on the trains to and from Columbus will be received at the Union until noon today. Information can be obtained in the lobby of the Union.

The proceeds of the sales on the trains will go to the Union swimming pool fund.

Galoshes Slop, Forecast Snow

It was on South State Street during the rain the other day. Students with coats tightly buttoned were hurrying homeward, happy in the thought that another day had passed.

As one of these walked rapidly through the rain he heard a sound strangely familiar—as if a soft football were being dragged along the ground.

Looking up he saw a girl and a man walking toward him. That was not unusual. He looked again and then he saw—the fair damsel was wearing galoshes, the first of the season.

The homeward bound student buttoned his topcoat more tightly about him.

"Winter surely is near," he thought as he trudged on through the rain.

'ENSIAN WANTS SENIOR PICTURES BY DEC. 24

NEW TIME LIMIT ESTABLISHED TO AVOID CONFUSION OF PREVIOUS YEARS

"All seniors must have their pictures taken before Christmas vacation," is the ruling of Sheldon M. Brown, '22 business manager of the 1923 Michiganensian. In former years seniors were allowed to submit their photographs at a later date, but this method caused much confusion and delay in getting the 'Ensian out.

This year seniors must obtain an order from the Michiganensian office in the Press building, before any photographer will take a sitting. Such orders may be obtained at the 'Ensian office any afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Brown declares also that to have pictures in the 1923 'Ensian at all, negatives must have been made and proofs returned to the photographers by Dec. 24. This will give the studios an opportunity to complete the work in time for the date on which all photographers must submit their senior prints, Jan. 5, 1923.

This final date, Dec. 24, does not apply to group pictures which will be taken only during the month of January.

GRID GRAPH WILL BE READY TODAY

Electric Scoreboard Will Make Game Realistic; to be Installed in Hill Auditorium

VARSITY BAND, YELLMASTERS WILL BE ADDED ATTRACTION

Complete reproduction of the Vanderbilt game by means of the newly acquired electric scoreboard, to be shown in Hill auditorium, accompanied by Michigan songs and yells led by the Varsity band and cheerleaders, making it almost as realistic as the actual game itself, is the aim of the Alumni association for this afternoon.

All the apparatus necessary for the re-creation of the game has arrived, weighing in all over half a ton. It will be installed by Mr. Potter, one of the designers of the grid graph, who is expected to be in Ann Arbor this morning and who will supervise the operation of the board during the entire time.

Game Starts at 3:30

The game is called at Dudley field in Nashville for 2:30 o'clock Central standard time, 3:30 o'clock Ann Arbor time. The doors of Hill auditorium will be opened at 2:45 o'clock Ann Arbor time. The Alumni association believes that the demonstration this afternoon will be second only to that of the actual game.

The grid graph reproducer is controlled entirely by electricity. Electric lights show the exact position of the ball on the field, the path it followed, play used, men involved in play, yardage gained, and all the minor details of the game. For instance if Michigan were to use an aerial attack, the light "forward pass" is lit. The ball is passed from the center, Bloit, whose light is flashed, back to say Steger, who then passes to Goebel. Both the last two men are shown by their respective lights and the path of the ball down the field is traced in the same way, so that the audience knows exactly how the play worked out.

A special Western Union wire has been leased direct from Dudley field to the operator in Hill auditorium. This will enable the play to be flashed upon the board almost instantaneously after it is made. Two men will be used in operating he board, as well as two students, with a knowledge of Michigan's team and the technicalities of the game will be at the wire to receive the returns. This, it is thought, will do away with all delays caused by relays in telegraphing or insufficient men at the receiving end.

This is the first time that an official demonstration of this kind has ever been held and students have no been allowed to witness their team in an outside encounter. The Board of Regents gave the Alumni association the use of Hill auditorium in order to accomodate the entire student body, with the understanding that if the thing is a success, it will be made a permanent feature in all of Michigan's away-from-home games.

Band Will Play

The band, which is holding drill practice today for the Ohio State game next Saturday, on Ferry field will, on the completion of its drill, march directly to the auditorium in time for the game to begin. Two men from the cheerleading squad will also be present, William H. Frankhauser, '21L, head cheerleader and Walter E. Lunsfield, '25, the heavy man of the yell squad.

An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged to help pay operating expenses. Tickets may be bought at any time up to or during the game at the Alumni association, Huston's Wahr's, Graham's, or at the door of the auditorium.

Southern Football Experts See Easy Triumph For Wolverines

(By Daily Correspondent)

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 13.—Vanderbilt's new Dudley stadium will have an inauspicious dedication here tomorrow, if the local football experts, whether they be of Vanderbilt or Michigan extraction are to be considered capable judges. They can predict nothing but an easy Wolverine victory, after watching the two teams' practice this afternoon.

The Michigan team showed no ill-effects from the long trip and went through a snappy practice in the afternoon. Their drill looked far better than did that of the Commodores, who are hampered by injuries to some of their star men. Conyers, regular end, still has his leg in a plaster cast, and Sharpe is in such poor condition that he may not start.

Klyke was punting better than ever before this year with numerous spirals that lifted 55 yards down the field. Goebel was doing some fine place kicking, and the splendid exhibitions of these two leaders apparently fired the rest of the team into a fiery signal practice.

Coach Yost this afternoon decided to change his line-up for tomorrow's encounter. This means that Slaughter will play center, with Bloit shifted to guard and Steele playing the other guard. The rest of the line-up will be the same that be announced earlier.

The entire football squad is in excellent condition, according to Trainer Archie Hahn. It is his hope that this will bring the team through tomorrow's games without serious injuries, which will handicap Michigan against Ohio next week.

The Vanderbilt students held a big pep meeting tonight for tomorrow's game. Every one of the 23,000 seats in the new stadium has been sold for the contest, which will begin at 2:15 o'clock Central time.

CHEERLEADERS TO RECEIVE UNIFORMS

Varsity cheerleaders will have uniforms, probably in time for the Ohio State game, declared E. C. Haag, '22E, chairman of the cheerleader committee of the student council, last night.

Cheerleaders will be provided with white sweaters with some distinctive insignia which has not yet been definitely selected, and white flannel trousers.

The money for the uniforms will probably come out of the proceeds of the tag day which is being tentatively planned by the Student council.

SEN. SINK CLAIMS COAL BILL WILL STOP PROFITEERS

DECLARES ACT WILL EQUALIZE DISTRIBUTION OF FUEL IN MICHIGAN

ACTION WILL PREVENT STATE-WIDE SHORTAGE

Legislator Predicts Groesbeck Will Nominate Potter to Post of Administrator

Senator Charles A. Sink of this district returned last night from the special session of the legislature at Lansing, which adjourned late yesterday afternoon after passing a bill providing for a fuel administrator to deal with the present acute coal shortage in Michigan.

It is Senator Sink's belief that the bill, which is modeled after similar acts by the New York and Ohio legislatures, will take care of the situation. "Of course, the act will not create coal," Senator Sink said, "but I believe that it will help equalize distribution and prevent profiteering."

According to Senator Sink, Governor Groesbeck's calling of the legislature represents his desire to give the state a business administration. "In many of the towns of Michigan there is hardly any coal, and if the recent warm weather had not occurred, the state might be facing a general shortage now. It was time for some action to be taken."

W. W. Potter of Jackson, who has been acting administrator, will probably be appointed by Governor Groesbeck to act as administrator under the provisions of the bill, according to Senator Sink. The administrator will begin immediately with his deputies and assistants, and will continue until March 21, by which time the crisis will be passed or the legislature rise again act.

The special session of the legislature began Tuesday when a bill was introduced in the House of Representatives and a duplicate bill in the Senat. After discussion and a number of amendments the Senate passed its bill Thursday, and the house discarded its act and amended the Senate bill.

A Conference committee, of which Senator Sink was a member, appointed, met, they effected a compromise which was agreed to by both houses yesterday afternoon Governor Groesbeck has not yet signed the bill, but it was drawn up by him and the attorney-general, there is little doubt as to his doing so.

Senator Sink said that there was some opposition to the bill by coal dealers at first, but stated that the majority of the dealers now feel that it is for their best interests. The public is strongly in favor of the act, he said.

MAURIEL HEADS IL CIRCOLO ITALIANO

Election of officers for the ensuing year took place at a recent meeting of Il Circolo Italiano. John J. Mauriel, '24, was chosen president of the club, E. L. Gaspari, '24, vice president, and Victoria Wendelman, '23, secretary. Dorothy Scholl, '24, was elected to act with the officers on the executive committee.

Following the custom of the language clubs in preceding years Il Circolo Italiano will inaugurate a series of illustrated lectures as a part of the club's activities for the year.

An informal meeting of the society will be held the latter part of next week at which all persons interested in the study of Italian are invited to be present. Regular meetings of the club will be held at 8:00 o'clock every other Wednesday during the year.

The Daily's special correspondent at Nashville late last night wired that the game will begin at 2:15 o'clock Central time or 3:15 Ann Arbor time. The dedication exercises and the telegraphic delay may possibly prevent returns being received until 3:30, which is the time announced by other agencies for the receipt of the returns.

YOSTMEN INVADE VANDERBILT GRIDIRON TODAY; BATTLE IS EIGHTH CONTEST FOR RIVALS

GAME WILL MARK DEDICATION OF BIG COMMODORE STADIUM

STRONG FIGHT LOOKED FOR FROM SOUTHERNERS

Goebel and Uteritz Will Get Into Action; Few Substitutions Expected

When Michigan and Vanderbilt line up for the opening kickoff at 2:30 this afternoon at Dudley Stadium it will mark the resumption of hostilities on the gridiron which have been suspended since 1914.

Today's battle, in addition to being a revival of old rivalries, also marks the biggest day in Vanderbilt's athletic history. It is dedication of his new stadium, built to accommodate 25,000 spectators. It is generally acknowledged to be the finest athletic plant south of the Mason-Dixon line.

It has been named in honor of Dr. William L. Dudley, founder of Vanderbilt's athletic system and for years head of the Southern Intercollegiate athletic association. There will be elaborate dedication ceremonies in which members of the two teams will take part, but it will be the game that will attract all interest, the game to which Vanderbilt has been looking forward since last spring.

Pupil vs. Master

The titled feature of this afternoon's meeting is the family interest furnished by the two coaches, Fielding H. Yost, and his brother-in-law, Dan McGugin, of Vanderbilt. It was a good many years ago that McGugin and Yost first met—1899 to be exact—and on the day of the meeting Yost's Kansas eleven defeated the Iowa team on which McGugin was playing guard. Two years later when Yost came to Michigan to coach, McGugin followed him and played his last two years of football here, establishing a reputation during that time which ranks him with Yost as one of all time Michigan players.

It is a peculiar coincidence that the last game between the two teams, played on Ferry field on Nov. 11, 1914, was the occasion of the opening of the new south stand which had just been completed. It was not the dedication game but the stand was used for the first time that day.

Michigan had little trouble defeating the Commodores in that last engagement between the two elevens, McGugin came to Ferry field that year with a team of veterans while Yost on the other hand, had but four men who had ever played in a varsity game before. Pouring rain all during the game, seven green men opposed to 11 veterans, and the fact that there were five important fumbles to follow on the schedule did not hold the Yost men back that day. By virtue of Maulsbach's terrific plunging, Catlett's open field running and Larry Ogilvie's phenomenal kicking the Maize and Blue was returned victorious by a 22 to 3 count.

Michigan Undefeated

Today will witness the eighth meeting of the two elevens. In the seven previous encounters Michigan has taken the heavy end of the score on every occasion piling up a total of 135 points as compared to 23 for the southerners. The Commodores have never been completely victorious when the final whistle blew, always having been in the running until the last minute, and on one occasion, 1911, came within one point of defeating the Wolverine's pupils, the final score being 7-6.

Conditions that feature the 1914 battle here will prevail today in that Vanderbilt will have a veteran eleven, picked from 21 letter men who returned to school this fall. Michigan however will not be handicapped by as many great men as were in his line-up in the last meeting between the two teams as he will have a veteran backfield, a green line and probably one experienced tackle when the teams face each other this afternoon.

Hard end running and a clever and varied aerial attack are the weapons which make the Dudley backfield one to be feared by any opponent. Most of the Vanderbilt attack is said to be started from a run, pass, or kick formation which none of her opponents this fall have solved.

Unless Yost has taught his charges how to meet a pass attack since the terrible exhibition of this style of play they put in the Case game McGugin's men are apt to pull something this afternoon that will be a shock to the campus.

Reese Is Vanderbilt Star

Reese is the star of the Commodore backfield, the man around whom all of the touchdown plays are built. He is unusually light but his remarkable shiftiness in a broken field combined with his speed and first to-er to make him a dangerous man at all.

First Mimes Bill Pleases Audience

Opening with two vaudeville acts, all different in nature, together forming an excellent program the Mimes Repertoire company began its year's program last night at the Mimes theatre.

The bill opened with a number of popular selections by Rhodes Brothers orchestra. Minnie James Johnson, '23, joining with the orchestra in the next two numbers and offering two popular songs to a receptive audience. The act ended with a specialty number, "Every Day," by the orchestra.

Buckley C. Robbins, '23, and C. J. Dresbach, '24, were featured in a comedy act which was rather short, but well received. Gordon Wolf, '25,

CHORAL UNION HAS RECORD SEAT SALE

All Tickets For Concert Series Sold Out Two Weeks in Advance of First Concert

SINK ATTRIBUTES CAUSE TO HIGH QUALITY OF PROGRAM

What is declared by Charles Sink, secretary of the School of Music, to be a record seat sale for the Choral Union concert series, came to a close last night when it was announced that the orders for seats had been more than sufficient to absorb the seating capacity of Hill auditorium.

This is the first time in the history of the Choral Union program that all the seats for the series have been sold two weeks to advance of the opening concert. He attributes the cause of the early disposal of tickets to the fact that the program is the finest ever offered by the Choral Union.

It was previously announced that a sale would be held this morning to dispose of all remaining seats, but the early exhaustion of the tickets will make this sale unnecessary.

TAU BETA PI DELEGATES SEE FORD MOTOR PLANT

DISCUSSION AND APPOINTMENTS MARK SECOND BUSINESS SESSION

General discussions and committee appointments took up the time of the second business session of the Tau Beta Pi convention held at the Union yesterday morning. No vote was taken on any of the propositions put before the assembly.

At one o'clock the delegates left for Detroit where the afternoon was spent inspecting the Ford Motor company's Highland Park plant and the General Motors building. This was followed by a dinner and theatre party in the evening.

A business session is scheduled for 9 o'clock this morning and it is probable that the great amount of business which must be attended to will necessitate an afternoon meeting. The three day convention will come to a close with the annual convention dinner to be given in the Union assembly hall at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Prof. Henry H. Higbie of the electrical engineering department will deliver the principal address.

First Tryouts For Players' Club Held

First tryouts for positions in the cast of the initial play of the year to be given by the Players club, were held yesterday afternoon between 1 and 5:30 o'clock in the Players workshop, at the old fire hall on East University avenue. Fifteen members were present.

The play to be given by the club is "The Roadhouse in Arden," by Moeller A. reading, "The Swan Song," by Tchekoff, will also be given. These performances will take place on Nov. 9 in Sarah Caswell Angell hall.

Additional tryouts for members of the club will take place on Monday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock and on Tuesday afternoon from 1:30 to 5 o'clock. There are six characters in the play itself, besides the person who will be chosen to give the reading.

SPEECHES MADE BY HILLERY, TRAVER, JOHNSON; MUSIC FURNISHED

'26 MEN PRESENT URGED TO KEEP CLASS UNITY

Study and Honesty Emphasized As Fundamental Michigan Traditions

Service to the University and preservation of her traditions was the keyword impressed upon the freshmen by the Traditions Day speakers in the fifth annual celebration of the ceremony held last night in Hill auditorium.

"The importance of traditions cannot be overemphasized," said Carl Johnson, '23, alumni speaker for the evening and famous Michigan track athlete. "Following Michigan traditions makes a Michigan man and puts the stamp of Michigan on you, which remains with you wherever you go. Now is the time to make them a part of your life."

Glee Club Sings

"Landes Atque Carmina," sung by the glee club after several selections by the Varsity band, officially opened the meeting. The auditorium was completely filled with students as Vernon F. Hillery, '23, president of the Student council and student speaker for the evening arose to give the initial address.

Prof. William A. Frayer, of the history department, was the second speaker on the program. In speaking of the specific traditions of the University he said, "The tradition of studies is one of foremost importance, not only for the new men but for all of us. It is for that that we are here."

Student honesty in examinations and in everyday life was also touched upon by the professor. As a bit of advice for the coming Ohio game when it is expected that a majority of the school will go to Columbus, he said, "When you go away from Michigan and down to Columbus next week don't forget that you are still Michigan men and expected to act as such."

Johnson Speaks

Carl Johnson, '23, was the final Traditions day speaker. Before commencing his address, he asked the freshmen class to stand so that every one might have a chance to view the new class of '26 as a body. After they had resented the action, he began giving the definition and value of traditions and the unifying influence which they have over a new class. In urging the new men to stay together as a definite unit in University life he said, "Serve your University and live up to her traditions and you will stay together as Michigan men throughout your entire lives."

"The Victors" and "Varsity" were then played by the band and the singing of "The Yellow and Blue" marked the end of the program.

FURLONG HONORED

Harold A. Furlong, '24M, left last night for New Orleans, where he will attend the fourth annual convention of the American Legion next week. Furlong attends this convention as a Medal of Honor man, of which 22 are expected to be present.

During the convention, plans for a national organization of Medal Honor men will be completed. Furlong is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

NEW ACT ADDED TO MIMES THEATER PROGRAM

Substitution of Dewey, '23, Also Announced For Tonight

One more act has been added to the week-end program at the Mimes theater, making six acts in all which will appear at the theater tonight and tomorrow. "The Dream Waltz" featuring Gordon Weir, '24, and Donald Rachone, '24, is the name of the new act. Thomas Dewey, '23, will take the place of the Midnight Sons quartette, which is prevented from appearing.

Weir and Buchome have both done work in campus dramatics previously. Weir did an oriental dance at the opening of the second act in last year's opera, "Make It For Two," and also appeared in the Ann Arbor production of "Oh, Oh, Cindy" which played here two years ago. He has acted in several band bounces and spotlight vaudevilles.

Dewey, who is a soloist, will be remembered as playing a part in the 1921 Union opera, "Top o' the Morning," and has since appeared at several private entertainments on the campus.

Besides these two acts, there are five others. A one act play under the direction of Carl Drake, '23G, and called "In the Morgue" is the feature of the program. James Johnson, '22, with Rhodes' orchestra, Burtley C. Robbins, '23, and C. James Dresbach, '24, and company, and "The Argentine Tango" by Germano and Feinecki, will round out the program.

All seats for both performances are reserved and tickets will be on sale today and tomorrow at the box office of the Mimes theater. The admission price is 50 cents.

VARSITY GIVEN SENDOFF

More Than 200 Cheer Football Team At Depot

Michigan gave her football team a rousing sendoff yesterday afternoon at the Ann Arbor railroad station when the squad entrained for its trip to Vanderbilt, where it will meet the Southerners on their own ground.

The crowd, numbering more than 200, gathered early, and spent the interval before the arrival of the train in cheering the team as a whole, the individual members, and the Color Cheerleader W. H. Frankhauser, '24, was present leading cheers, and the assembled students responded readily.

As the train left the station, the crowd joined in a last locomotive, and the team was off for its invasion of the South.

D. H. NELSIN WINS FIRST AERO RACE

Averages 105 Miles Per Hour in Heavy Army Transport Plane

SECOND RACE OVER SAME COURSE WON BY H. HARRIS

Mt. Clemens, Oct. 12.—Piloting a heavy Martin transport driven by two 400 horsepower Liberty motors, Lieut. D. H. Nelsin, of Mt. Clair, N. J., won the Detroit News aero mail trophy race for multi-motored planes here today. He covered the 220 miles triangular course at an average speed of 105 miles an hour.

The Detroit Aviation Country club trophy race down over the same course was won by Lieut. Harrol H. Harris, one of two army entrants in the "Honeymoon Express" equipped with a 400 horsepower Liberty twelve motor. Lieut. Harris averaged 125 miles an hour in this event, which was for light commercial planes, finishing four laps ahead of C. S. Jones in a Curtis Oriole, who averaged 110 miles an hour.

A slight northwest wind blowing up the tails of the big planes in the Detroit News event made necessary abandonment of the original plan of starting all of the craft together, consequently the planes, each weighing 4 tons and having a wing spread of 70 feet, took the air one after the other. Lieut. Nelsin's plane flying high was the last to cross the starting line. The transport began at once to overhaul the other racers and before the race was three-quarters over it was seen that unless forestalled Lieutenant Nelsin would win.

URGES SPEED AT EAST CONFERENCE

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—Lieut.-Gen. Frank Charles Harrington, the British commander-in-chief here, will press the Allied powers for an early convening of the peace conference which he believes will be the most important council of world powers since Versailles.

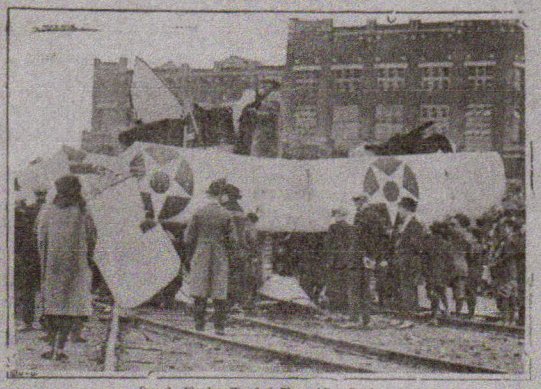

It is expected that the League of Nations will require from two to three months at least as the questions for decisions are of the widest importance, including the vital interest of all of Europe and will likely involve many matters entirely outside the Near East.

The Allied authorities here will oppose the selection of Constantinople for the meeting of the conference.

GRAPH OPERATOR EXPECTED TODAY

Apparatus and Equipment for New Electric Score Board Arrive

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION NAMES ASSISTANT TO RECEIVE NEWS

Electrical apparatus and equipment for the grid graph, the electric score board which is to reproduce the Vanderbilt game in Hill auditorium Saturday afternoon, has arrived and the operator for the machine is expected today.

The set requires only one man for operation, all the lights being controlled by one switchboard. The man will be sent from the Potter and Howenstine company of Columbus, makers of the grid graph, and will do both the installing and working of the apparatus himself.

To assist this man, however, the Alumni association has asked John Bacon, '23, publicity man for the Athletic association, and a member of the reserve corps, to be at the special Western Union wire when the plays come in. It is felt that with two men there who are connected with the football squad and have a knowledge of the technicalities of the game, better results may be obtained.

The band and cheerleaders will also be in the auditorium when the reports come in. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged to help cover the operating expenses. Tickets are now on sale at the Union, Huston's, the Alumni association office, Graham' book stores, and Wahr's State street store.

Ohio Block "M" Is Now Assured

Michigan will have a block "M" at the Ohio State game Oct. 21 at Columbus. The Booster's club under the direction of the Athletic association will sponsor the buying of the materials and will lay out the "M" at the game.

Banners of yellow and blue will make up the mammoth letter. Instead of having flags on sticks, this year the banners will be larger in size and will have two safety pins attached on two corners so that the banner may be pinned on the front of all persons in this particular section. The "M" will thus be visible at all times whether the crowd be seated or standing. The flags which will be tacked to the seats in the Michigan section are to be worn by all those who have tickets in the section. The section marked out may be seen on the blueprint in the window of Graham's Book store.

Deserted Campus Predicted Today

Left-handers, hump-backs, and cross-eyed persons can hold merry wassail today, but the beautiful should stay in-doors. Cue why? Its Friday, the thirteenth!

The sixth day in the week, historians say, was named after Freya, the ancient Anglo-Saxon goddess of beauty. If mythology can be believed, however, the charming goddess was on poor terms with the classical forerunner of Lady Luck. From time immemorial, beauty has been unlucky. Look at Anne Boleyn, or Marie Antoinette or any of the delectable maids from Evelyn Thaw right back to Eve herself. The breaks were always against them.

Tradition says left-handers, humpbacks, and the cross-eyed ones are immune to the evil spell of Friday, the thirteenth. But, beware if you are beautiful!

ENGINEERS DOING RESEARCH STUDY

With prospects that definite conclusions will be reached in the near future, Prof. R. K. Bailey, acting head of the department of electrical engineering, and five assistants are continuing their research story of the action of induction motors with unbalanced voltages.

The work has been in progress for three years, Professor Bailey being assisted by two assistants, and three students who receive credit in electrical engineering for their help. The results of the research will be the substance of an article which will probably appear in the magazine of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

DENTAL ADDITION TO OPEN MONDAY

Greatly Enlarged Clinic Contains 200 Chairs and Is Fully Equipped

IMPROVEMENTS PLACE MICHIGAN AMONG THE LEADING SCHOOLS

"The new addition to the Dental building will be open and ready for use next Monday," is the announcement made by Dr. M. L. Ward, dean of the College of Dental Surgery.

In addition to the new structure the facilities have been greatly improved by an entire remodelling of much of the old building. The original building, erected in 1906, was at that time entirely adequate for the work, but owing to recent improvements in methods of teaching and a considerable increase in the size of the school has since been found inadequate.

With the new additions the Michigan dental college will again be placed in a prominent position among dental schools throughout the country, being rivaled, it is said, by only two. It will now be able to accommodate a senior class of 200, which means that an enrollment of 800 may be easily taken care of. This is a considerable more than the present enrollment.

The next important feature of the remodelled building is the greatly enlarged operative clinic, containing 200 chairs, and equipped with every conceivable improvement. Much of the old equipment, now obsolete, has been scrapped. The construction of a new amphitheater for demonstrative and teaching purposes has also been made possible by the building of the addition.

Ex-Student Finds Indian Trinkets In Lenaway County

Indian trinkets of great interest have been found on a body which was unearthed from a gravel pit near Tecumseh in Lenaway county. The pit was on the property of a former student of Dr. W. R. Hinsdale, former dean of the Homeopathic school and the collection was presented through him, to the University Museum.

This Indian represents the transition period in the history of the American Indian between his first encounter with the white man and his adoption of the white man's ways. The archives of Lenaway county state that the earliest white inhabitants arrived in 1824 when the white population in Southern Michigan was exceedingly sparse. With the advent of the white man the bow and arrow was replaced by the gun, and as a Chert arrowhead was found located in the left breast, we have reason to believe that this Indian was killed some time previous to this period.

The body, in an excellent state of preservation, was found lying some three feet from the surface, surrounded by a collection of wampum beads, deeply stained bones of small animals, and even a suggestion of a looking-glass.

MIMES' PLANS FOR '23 OPERA ROUND INTO SHAPE AS BOOK, "IN AND OUT", IS CHOSEN

SHUTER OPTIMISTIC OVER POSSIBILITIES

Work of Casting and Development of Dance Specialties Near Completion

"In and Out" is the name of the 1923 Michigan Union opera which will open in Ann Arbor on Dec. 4, and play here the rest of the week. The story, lyrics, and music were all written by Edwin E. Meiss, '23, who has been working on the book since early last spring.

This is the first time in the history of the opera that the complete piece has been written by one man, and the work shows the effect by having a more complete unity of story, lyrics and music than ever before. According to E. Mortimer Shuter, director of the opera, this year's book will offer a better vehicle than any he has used heretofore.

Has Two Acts

There are only two acts to the piece, the first with a setting in Holland during the tulip blooming time, and the second in New York. The dances and songs are worked into the action after and according to the director, should blend well.

Most of the dances for the piece are now set, work having begun on that phase of the opera last spring under the direction of Roy Hoyer. It is expected that Mr. Hoyer will be in Ann Arbor again in the near future to put the finishing touches on this work and to set a few novelty steps. The positions in the cast and chorus are now being filled by the director from the large number of tryouts who have appeared, but work has been delayed on this in order that men may be picked who will fit into the various parts.

Opens Here Dec. 4

The production will open here Dec. 4 at the Mimes theater where it will play on Monday night only. It will then at the Whitney on Tuesday, Dec. 5 and play the rest of the week. Only about eight weeks now remain before the first performance and work on the piece has begun in earnest.

Work on the posters for this year's opera will begin on Monday when Mr. Shuter will meet all men who are interested in entering the contest at 5 o'clock in his office in the Mimes theater. All men who plan to enter should get in touch with Mr. Shuter on or before this time.

GILBERT PARKER TO SPEAK TUESDAY

Famous English Author and Statesman Is Substitute on Lecture Course

ADDRESS BY JUDGE KENYON PREVENTED BY COURT RULING

Sir Gilbert Parker, distinguished British novelist, publicist, traveler, and statesman, has been secured by the Oratorical association to take the place of Judge William S. Kenyon, who is unable to fulfill his lecture engagement here for Tuesday, Oct. 17, because of a court ruling which forbids members of the supreme bench delivering speeches of this kind.

Oratorical association officials consider themselves particularly fortunate in having Parker here at this time, being able to obtain him next Tuesday while he is on his limited transcontinental tour. For years Sir Gilbert has been a prominent figure in English and world politics, through his long service in parliament, and his experience on special commissions during the war. Besides being high in the field of political issues Parker has achieved outstanding success as a novelist and publicist resulting from his own extensive writings.

The University Oratorical association offers an opportunity to hear an internationally known writer, traveler and statesman. Due to its comprehensive program of well known men the association's season tickets have been selling with unusual success. Some tickets are still available and may be procured at the rate of $2 for the reserved section and $1.50 for the unreserved division. Single admissions to the Sir Gilbert Parker lecture may be obtained for $1.
