MICHIGAN ASSUMES LEAD IN BIG TEN

BADGERS INFLICT INITIAL UPSET ON BOILERMAKER FIVE

OVERFLOW CROWD WATCHES WISCONSIN TRIUMPH AT LAFAYETTE

FINAL SCORE IS 31 TO 26

Michigan Takes Conference Lead; Murphy Subdued By Kowalczyk, Star Cardinal Guard

(By Associated Press)

LAFAYETTE, Jan. 21.—A band of giants from Wisconsin smeared the defeat sign on Purdue's speedy basketball team for the first time in the Big Ten basketball championship campaign tonight by a score of 31 to 26, before an overflow crowd of 7,000 spectators.

The defeat tumbled the Boilermakers from a tie for first place in the race with Michigan and sent them into a tie for second place with Wisconsin, each having a record of five victories and one defeat. Michigan is the undisputed leader with four straight triumphs.

Tonight's battle was fiercely fought from the first tip-off with the lead alternating several times. Purdue grabbed an early lead but the Badgers, playing a bang-up defensive game and with Hank Kowalczyk "sewing up" "Stretch" Murphy, Purdue's scoring ace, soon overtook them to lead 15 to 13 at the half. Purdue took the lead again in the middle of the second half, but once again Wisconsin smashed through to lead and to win.

Kowalczyk's guarding of Murphy, and the fast offensive play of Tenhopen, rangy center, Foster's floor work and passing and Doyle's defense featured Wisconsin's play, while Harmeson and Lyle, a diminutive forward, starred for the Boilermakers.

BULLETIN

BLOOMINGTON, Jan. 21.—Indiana climbed over Minnesota here tonight by a score of 41-23 to enter into a triple tie for fourth place in Conference standing along with Northwestern and Illinois. It was the Hoosier's second victory in five Big Ten games this season and Minnesota's fifth defeat in as many starts.

HOOVER STARTS ON JOURNEY TO MIAMI

(By Associated Press)

Hoover Special En Route to Miami, Jan. 21.—President-elect Herbert Hoover traveled southward today through Virginia and North Carolina, bound for a month's rest in Miami—his last chance for a vacation before he enters the White House on March 4.

He intends to make the most of it, too. After his close confinement in Washington during the last two weeks and the conference with hundreds of office seekers and advisors, the prospects of quiet, lonely days in Florida Keys, fishing for barracuda, sailfish, and other aristocrats or more humble inhabitants of the Gulf Stream, hold the strongest appeal for Mr. Hoover.

His most precious baggage is the deep sea tackle which he bought in California before embarking on his South American trip, and a new rod which has been presented recently to him.

The President-elect is expected to disappear on a fishing trip of several days duration as soon as he gets through with the first round of visitors in his new home.

BOARD TAKES ACTION

REGENTS COMBINE MUSICAL SCHOOL WITH UNIVERSITY

JAMES EDMONSON APPOINTED NEW DEAN OF SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

NAME FUTURE LECTURERS

Professor Taylor Of Princeton Will Replace Professor Campbell Next Semester

Embodiment of the School of Music and its complete administrative organization into the University as an integral part, and appointment of Prof. James B. Edmonson of the School of Education as dean of the school were included in the business transacted by the Board of Regents last night.

In the past the School of Music has existed as a separate corporation with a loose conection existing between it and the University proper. The new plan will include the School of Music among the regular schools of the University. Under the new arrangement, the finances and entire working of the School of Music will be directly under the University just as the situation is at present with other schools and colleges of the University.

Professor Edmonson is at present chairman of the executive committee of the School of Education which has been in active charge of all affairs of that school since the resignation of former Dean Allan S. Whitney at the close of the last semester.

In addition, the Regents announced the coming of Prof. Edward Ayres Taylor of Princeton university to take the place of Prof. O. J. Campbell of the English department during his leave of absence next semester when he will be at Harvard university. It was also announced that Prof. C. G. Burns of the University of Edinburgh, a well known authority in the field of political science, will spend a week in Ann Arbor next spring, delivering a number of lectures. Moreover, Prof. Ernest Rhyes, editor of Everyman's library, and Prof. Myer Luebke, German lecturer, have also been invited to give a number of lectures here in the near future.

A telegram addressed to President Little from Commander Byrd, leader of the well known Antarctic expedition, and containing the following message was read at the meeting: "Have made Gould second in command on ice. He is a corker. Happy New Year.—Byrd."

Establishment of a Dupont de Nemours fellowship in chemistry and the announcement of the continuation of the Detroit Edison fellowship in chemical engineering completed the business of the meeting.

COUNCIL TO HEAR NATIONAL REPORT

Business scheduled for the second regular meeting of the Interfraternity council will consist mostly of reports of unfinished business, according to Edward H. Wachs, '29, president of the body. The meeting has been called for 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in room 302 of the Union.

President Resigns

President Clarence Cook Little

Who, last night, tendered and had accepted his resignation as president of the University. President Little's letter which was sent to each of the Regents is hereby published with President Little's permission:

Dear Regent—

For some time two things have become increasingly apparent:

First:—That my methods of handling situations dealing with interests of private donors, political interests, "local" interests and alumnae interests, are not consistent with policies which the Board of Regents deems wise.

Second:—That I shall, I hope, be more effective in scientific research and teaching than in administration.

I therefore request that my resignation be accepted to take effect September 1, 1929 and that I be given a leave of absence from June 20, 1929 to August 31, 1929, or before that if the Regents desire it.

I further ask two things:

First:—That the University College be established only if the Board of Regents is whole-heartedly in favor of the principles and if it is approved by the Deans or if my successor is definitely in favor of it and will personally sponsor it. Only in these ways can it have a fair chance of success. It would seem needlessly hard on the students to launch it under circumstances likely to doom it to failure.

Second:—That the present legislative program be placed in charge of the Dean of Administration acting for the President and of a committee of the Regents.

I hope that the Regents will agree with me in the absence of personal feeling and will realize that I wish to acknowledge their great kindness to me personally at all times.

The chief assets possessed by any executive are the ingrained principles which activate his policies. These, right or wrong, necessitate the above course of action in spite of great personal regret on my part that such is the case.

Sincerely yours,

C. C. LITTLE

NEXT PRESIDENT TO DECIDE FATE OF U. COLLEGE

REGENTS DEFINITELY DECIDE TO BUILD DORMITORY IN 1930

LITTLE'S WISH GRANTED

Regents Sawyer, Beal, Clements, Dean Ruthven To Carry On Legislative Program

Postponement of plans for the University college until the views of the successor to President Clarence Cook Little are known and definite decision to build the women's dormitory in 1930 as an experiment in the use of dormitories in the University constituted part of the business at the meeting of the Board of Regents of the University last night. In addition, the appointment of Regent Walter H. Sawyer as chairman and Regent Junius E. Beal, Regent William L. Clements, and Alexander G. Ruthven, dean of administration, as members of a legislative committee to take charge of the present legislative program, was made.

The action on the University college as well as the appointment of the committee are in accordance with requests made by President Little in his letter of resignation tendered the Regents.

Suspension of plans for the University college will halt the work of a number of special committees of the faculty engaged in developing details of the plan. No work whatever will be done until the sentiments of the next president of the University are known.

In a statement issued regarding the building of the dormitory, the regents reiterated their stand taken several days ago at a special meeting when they set forth the matter of financial arrangements as the cause for the postponement. A number of changes are being made in the plans by Shirley Smith, secretary of the University in conference with the architects. The Regents further stated that they have no intention whatsoever of abandoning the plans for the dormitory but that postponement is their only course in mind.

OTTOWAY DENIES FRICTION REPORT

Denial of the report that friction with the alumni bodies of the state or nation had anything to do with the rendering of Dr. Clarence Cook Little's resignation, presented at the regular meeting of the Board of Regents last night, was emphatically made late yesterday afternoon by E. J. Ottoway, of Port Huron, president of the general alumni association, in a special telephone communication to The Daily.

Mr. Ottoway declared that Dr. Little has had the complete confidence of the alumni association at all times, and that its ten-year program has been built on his conception of an Alumni University which has attracted the attention of more than 70,000 Michigan graduates. Although the alumni association greatly regrets the loss of Dr. Little, Ottoway continued, it feels that this matter is entirely one for the President and the Regents, and is out of the province of the alumni themselves.

PRESIDENT'S RESIGNATION GIVEN UNANIMOUS VOTE BY BOARD OF REGENTS; REGRET IS EXPRESSED

OFFICIALS EXPRESS HIGHEST PRAISE FOR CHARACTER AND STANDARDS OF PRESIDENT LITTLE

Unanimously accepting the resignation of President Clarence Cook Little under the terms included in his letter of resignation sent to each regent last Saturday, the Board of Regents of the University last night passed the following resolution:

"In accepting the resignation of President Little the Board of Regents expresses the most most profound regret.

"His high ideals of educational standards, his initiative, his constructive aspirations, his frankness, courage, and sincerity have made the severing of relationships a heart-felt loss to us all.

"We trust that the future may have for him the richest rewards."

In his letter to the regents, President Little gave as his reasons for his resignation his belief that his "methods of handling situations dealing with interests of private donors, political interest, local interest, and alumnae interests, are not consistent with policies which the Board of Regents deems wise" and that he hopes "to be more effective in scientific research and teaching than in administration."

In accordance with President Little's request, the resignation will take effect September 1, 1929, and he has been given a leave of absence from June 20, 1929, to August 31, 1929.

From prominent alumni, newspapermen, graduated members of honor societies, and well known persons all over the country The Daily has received numerous statements and requests for news concerning the rumored resignation of President Little.

Comprehensive editorial comment on the resignation of President Little will be found on page four.

President Clarence Cook Little was born in 1838. He was graduated from Harvard in 1910 with an A.B. degree, and received a master of science degree in 1912. He held various posts at Cambridge before assuming the presidency of the University of Maine in 1922.

Dr. Little aroused strong antagonism and equally vigorous support soon after he came to the University of Michigan in 1925 to take the place of Marion Leroy Burton, who died while in office. Little advocated several new forms of educational methods, a sane form of birth control, a ban on the student use of automobiles, denouncement of the D.A.R. blacklist, closer contact with alumni by means of an Alumni college, a University college, and other things.

In his inaugural address, he mentioned several things which he later saw as accomplished facts or as much discussed subjects. His first try was at the installation of a Freshman week, whereby entering students were given a chance to become acclimated to University life and to the city before they started classwork. This was first put into use in the fall of 1927, and proved a happy thing. Under successful guidance, it was used again last fall, and proved to be one of the greatest innovations in modern education, it is claimed. Entering students come to the university one week before classes begin, and during that week classify, register, are examined, and become a part of the university life.

In the spring of 1926, the first rumors of the later widespread discussion of "paternalism" came when he began to place a ban on student automobiles. The Regents passed a rule prevening freshmen and sophomores from having machines for the fall term of 1926. The ban was practically unenforced, and the great blow to the student body came immediately after school had closed in June of

HOP INDEPENDENTS WILL MEET TODAY

All independents who are going to attend the J-Hop will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room 316 of the Union to plan for their booths, announced Phillip B. Allen, booth chairman. "It is very important that all independents be there as this will be the only meeting of the kind," he emphasized.

The ticket sale of the remaining tickets will continue today between 1:30 and 5:30 o'clock at the side desk of the Union, according to George Bradley, ticket chairman. "There are but few tickets left," Bradley said, "and those who are planning on attending the Hop ought to buy immediately in order to be able to make all arrangements accordingly."

"The floor committeemen will assemble tomorrow night at the Union for a brief meeting," announced Wilfred Orwig, chairman of the committee. All of the committeemen should be present as this will probably be the only meeting until the night of the Hop, he said.

"Plans are progressing satisfactorily in all departments," said Harry Wallace, '30, general chairman. "We expect to have an interesting announcement within a few days," he added.

GIFT OF ALUMNUS LAUDED BY LITTLE

"There is a very great significance in this gift from an alumnus hoping to stimulate in a concrete way the students' interest in the past," declared President Clarence Cook Little to the small group gathered in the library yesterday afternoon for the presentation of Napoleon's signatures to the University by Orla B Taylor, '86L.

President Little emphasized the fact that an alumnus had had a great interest in his University and had worked out the idea and his way of presenting it.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, of Detroit, very close friends of the donor, Mr. Orla B. Taylor, also of Detroit, and Mr. Louis D. Bolton, great grandson of Napoleon's marshal Davoust, were among the notables present. Mr. George D. Mason, the architect who drew up the cabinet design, Mrs. Orla B. Taylor, and Mrs. Louis D. Bolton were also present.

After the acceptance speech of President Little the group proceeded to the second floor corridor where the gift was unveiled by Librarian Bishop.

POST, LIBERTY, AND COLLIER'S LEAD IN SALES AT NEWSTANDS

The Saturday Evening Post, Liberty, and Collier's are the three magazines published outside the campus which are most read by Michigan students, it has been revealed following a recent survey of campus newsstands. Gargoyle, campus humor publication, was mentioned among the best sellers by nearly every dealer.

Vanity Fair, the leader of a year ago, is still well read among the "better" class of magazines, according to the survey, but its sales have fallen considerably, and are not nearly so good as they were when the last survey was taken. In every case the Saturday Evening Post was cited as the leader, one dealer stating that he is unable to secure enough copies to fill the calls which he receives.

One newsstand reported good sales for College Humor, although all stated that Life and Judge were widely read among the student body. One dealer explained that good mystery stories sell many copies of the magazine in which they are appearing, and declared that he sold a large number of the cheaper priced detective story magazines to students each week.

The others, however, reported poor sales for all of the cheaper magazines. Cosmopolitan and Red Book, it appears, are also widely read on the campus. Cosmopolitan seeming to be slightly the more popular. One store has a good sale of Good Housekeeping but reports that townspeople are the largest purchasers.

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH. —A new kind of glass made with beryllium has been discovered by Chi Eang Lai, a Chinese research fellow. One of its properties is increased hardness.

LOCAL STATION GETS MESSAGE FROM BYRD

Announcement has come from the officials of the local R.O.T.C radio station, WBAXZ, that communication has been established with the Byrd expedition to Antaretica, by means of messages picked up last Thursday from the "Eleanor Bolling," one of the Byrd ships bound from New Zealand to the Bay of Whales, the expedition's base.

The messages from the ship were designed for certain people in the United States, the identity of whom cannot be divulged. The messages have been sent to these people by the members of the local station.

On Saturday morning the local station was again successful in getting in touch with the "Eleanor Bolling." At the same time WBAXZ was able to pick up communication directly with the operators at the Bay of Whales.

On Sunday morning communication was again established with the base and the local station transmitted several messages from Professor William Herbert Hobbs of the geology department to Commander Byrd and Prof. Lawrence M. Gould, who is head geologist and geographer with the expedition and who was recently made third in command of the entire expedition. The communication Sunday morning faded out after a few minutes.

From now on the local station plans to maintain a regular schedule of communication with the South Pole explorers. Messages from anyone in this country to any members of the expedition will be relayed. Guarantee of successful communication, in view of the long distance, is not made.
